

'To be competitive'

City school salaries increased 8 per cent

The Washington C.H. Board of Education Monday night unanimously approved a pay increase of approximately 8 per cent for all employees in the system. The move followed a number of special committee meetings at which the priorities for 1974 were set.

In proposing the motion before the board, member James Wilson noted that the city school system had slipped well behind surrounding schools (lowest in the SCOL) in teachers' salaries over the past few years and stated that the increase was necessary to keep the system competitive, and to enable it to continue to offer quality education to the students.

The salary schedule adopted places the beginning salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree at $7,000 per year, an increase of $527. The previous schedule had been adopted in 1972 and was mandatory in order to meet minimums set by the state legislature. It was the lowest in the SCOL and the lowest allowable by law.

The top salary (13 years of experience and a master's degree) goes from $11,132 to $12,038. Only two of 115 employees qualify.

Although some anticipated improvements and some proposed programs will have to be postponed or discarded to release funds for salaries, it was termed the "most pressing need."

SUPERINTENDENT Edwin M. Nestor explained that recent changes in the Teacher Retirement Program at the state level may well entice a number of the system's present teachers to retire at the end of the school year. The board may have to replace as many as 10 per cent of the present teaching staff.

Nestor said that, without the increase, finding quality teachers to fill the vacancies would be an impossible task. Bright young graduates could hardly be expected to come here when similar schools in surrounding areas were paying $1,000 more per year, he said.

DUE TO the vacuum created by monies channelled into the salary increase, other programs must suffer. Resources for in-service training of present teachers will be very limited. This training is part of the system's effort to constantly keep abreast of new teaching developments and techniques.

Additional material for the elementary schools, especially library books and audio-visual aids, will be limited, and proposed expansion of the elementary and junior high curriculum will have to be postponed.

Staff reductions may still be necessary. Nestor said that some openings may not be filled in order to create additional funds. However, this action must result in more students per classroom.

Carmen Frogale, president of the City Teachers Association, said that the increase, effective immediately, is badly needed and that the board's action demonstrates members' concern for quality education. He termed

Fierce Viet fighting explodes

SAIGON (AP) — Large North Vietnamese forces spearheaded by tanks and heavy artillery launched a dozen attacks across a wide area of the lower central highlands today. They captured parts of a district town and threatened a provincial capital, field reports said.

Government military spokesmen said that the attacks triggered major fighting and possibly were the prelude to a general offensive South Vietnamese officials have been forecasting for early next year.

Military sources said the North Vietnamese launched 11 separate attacks along a 28-mile front from Dak Song southward to the district town of Kien Duc near the Cambodian border and 90 miles northeast of Saigon.

Government spokesmen claimed a half dozen tanks were destroyed.

First reports said 45 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the fighting, but there was no report available on the government losses.

Hand-to-hand fighting was reported in Kien Duc, a town of 3,000 population, and field reports said North Vietnamese sappers had seized the national police headquarters in Kien Duc and two other points in the town, which was in danger of falling.

The field reports said that 1,000 civilians, some of them refugees from earlier fighting in the region, had fled from Kien Duc eastward through the jungles to Gia Nghia, 12 miles away.

The strategic Highway 14 between Kien Duc and Gia Nghia was reported open but "dangerous."

LT. Col. Le Trung Hien, Saigon's chief military spokesman, said it was the first time the Communists have attacked a district capital since the ceasefire on Jan. 28.

Watergate tapes heard by Sirica

WASHINGTON (AP) — After spending a day listening to Watergate tapes, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica hears White House officials tell how they handled the secret recordings.

Lawrence Higby, a member of the White House staff, was expected to take the witness stand today when testimony resumed in the hearing into what might have caused a hum that obliterated conversation on an 18-minute segment of one tape.

As an aide to then White House chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, Higby was closely involved in the 1971 installation of the secret recording system.

Expected to follow Higby to the stand were Gen. John Bennett of the White House staff, and Samuel Powers, a Miami, Fla., attorney, employed by the White House as a consultant for the tapes cases. It was understood that Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., Haldeman's successor on the President's staff, would testify Wednesday.

Weather

Cloudy windy, showers and chance of thundershowers with brief heavy rain this evening. Cloudy, cooler late tonight and Wednesday. Lows Tuesday night 35 to 40. Highs Wednesday in the upper 40s to low 50s.

Judge gets milk fund documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is surrendering secret milk fund documents to a federal judge, including the first tape to be released not directly related to Watergate.

But a Justice Department attorney said U.S. District Judge William B. Jones will be asked to keep the material under wraps on the grounds that it is protected by executive privilege.

The documents and tape could be turned over as early as today, said the department attorney.

The material, demanded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader in a civil suit, bears on the circumstances surrounding the administration's abrupt turnabout decision in 1971 to raise federal milk price supports.

Nader's suit charges that the Nixon administration raised the milk supports in exchange for more than $200,000 in secret contributions from the dairy industry to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

This contention is at odds with Nixon's own statement to The Associated Press Managing Editors last month that "Congress put the gun to our heads" by demanding higher support prices.

Government lawyers said Monday the tape recording, made on the same system that produced the presidential Watergate tapes, is of a meeting between Nixon and top administration officials on March 23, 1971.

March of Dimes drive features Fayette boy

A 7-year-old Fayette County boy has been named the 1974 March of Dimes Poster Child for the Ohio Chapter of the National March of Dimes Foundation.

Tracy Anders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anders, Rt. 1, Greenfield (Ohio 753-S), will be this year's honoree, according to Thomas E. Mullin, chairman of the annual January March of Dimes campaign.

Tracy was born with missing limbs and has been receiving treatment at Children's Hospital, Columbus, with a March of Dimes grant. He is a second grader at Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope.

This year, Tracy will help represent some quarter million children who are born with birth defects annually in the United States. Approximately 11,900 such children come from Ohio, Mullins said.

"We ask you to help us fight birth defects, such as the one which affects our poster child," Mullin said. "The March of Dimes supports research, medical services, professional education and community service programs all aimed at the ultimate goal of a healthy birthright for every child," Mullins commented.

Tracy's grandparents are Mrs. John Prenat, 508 Third St., Delbert Anders, of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Coulter, Washington-Waterloo Rd.

Station owner fights closing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Gasoline dealer Stan Brown says he's a law-abiding citizen who believes in President Nixon. But he says he'll continue to sell gas on Sunday "until somebody closes me down."

The Cincinnati man said Monday "I'm all for closing on Sunday—but if I have to close down my business why doesn't everyone else?"

Brown kept his expressway station open Sunday and reported business was brisk.

"I ran out of regular," he said. "I must have had 200 phone calls from people asking if I was open...and everybody said 'I hope you don't close down,'" said Brown.

He said he respects the President's appeal but feels more stringent steps are needed to curb unnecessary driving.

"I don't think I should have to shut my doors when the giant shopping centers stay open. This might be the start to saving gas, but closing everyone down would make more sense."

The gas pinch is hitting station owners at a critical time, he said.

"It's the end of the year and December is a big month for me. Last month I was allotted 41,000 gallons because that's what I pumped a year ago."

"This month I've got 77,000. I'm just a small businessman and I've got to make the dollar when I can. I don't want to break any laws but I can't see giving my business away when the rest of the stations are staying open."

Brown noted an upswing in motorists asking for gas in extra containers.

"Some people are bringing in cans of every size and taking gas home. My sister works at a big chain store and she said they can't keep cans on the shelves."

"I think some people are starting to hoard it," he said.

State, national electrical energy use declines

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer

Warm weather apparently has been more of a factor in reducing natural gas and oil consumption in Ohio than pleas for conservation, utility company spokesmen said Monday.

A check of gas and electric utilities across the state show consumption apparently is dropping.

But unseasonably warm weather through November probably has caused the drop, the utilities said. The spokesmen said it wasn't possible to tell if the President's Nov. 8 speech urging energy conservation had a major effect.

"It's not indicative of a trend," said David Altemuehle of Cincinnati Gas and Electric of figures showing a slight decline in electricity usage.

"As a matter of fact, it's going to take quite a bit longer to find if there is a trend."

Electric utilities, with ample supplies of coal to run their generators, aren't encouraging their customers to cut back. They say they want to promote wise use of electricity, however.

"Our slogan is 'Use all you need, but need all you use,'" said Bruce Wilson of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. "It's in the interest of promoting the use of all energy forms."

CEI said there was no noticeable change in consumption of electricity in Cleveland.

Small cutbacks were reported in

Dayton and Cincinnati in electrical usage. Columbus and Akron said they expected slight increases, but attributed them to increased numbers of customers.

Robert Jones of Columbus and Southern Electric said his firm's figures were thrown off by a freeze imposed last year on new natural gas connections. The ban brought new, unexpected customers to the electric utility and prevents valid evaluations of whether consumers are trying to conserve, he said.

Both Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. and East Ohio Gas Co. reported declining consumption of natural gas. East Ohio attributed the drop to warmer weather, but Columbia said it thought its conservation campaign was taking effect. "With just spot checks, we have a feeling our customers are cooperating," said Bill Chaddock of Columbia Gas.

"We have nothing to back it up," however, he said. "Our figures don't show anything right now; the difference is so minute it doesn't make any sense to talk about it."

A spokesman for Consolidated Edison in New York City said that for the weeks ended Nov. 4 and Nov. 11, electricity consumption was higher than during the same period in 1972. The next two weeks showed a decline.

Truck drivers stage protests

HEBRON, Ohio (AP) — Truck drivers blockaded interstate highways in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania in an apparently spreading protest of higher fuel prices and reduced speed limits.

The blockages produced monumental traffic jams and two arrests were reported, one in Ohio and the other in West Virginia.

"A truck driver right now is just dirt under peoples' feet," said Walter Barclay of Omaha, Neb., who said he was arrested for obstructing traffic after he led a blockade at an entrance ramp to Interstate 70 east of Wheeling, W. Va.

Another driver, Robert Gallicchio, 25, of Highland Park, N.J., refused to leave the westbound lane of Interstate 70 east of Cambridge, Ohio, and was arrested on a charge of illegal parking.

The protest at Cambridge ended just before 9 a.m., about two hours after it began. Traffic was backed up for about two miles by the 60-odd trucks participating in the demonstration.

The truckers then moved westward to Hebron, Ohio, about 30 miles east of Columbus, where they began another blockade.

The first blockade was reported Monday night at Blakeslee, Pa., near Pittsburgh, on Interstate 80. It produced a five-hour traffic jam that stalled about 1,000 cars before it ended at 3 a.m.

West Virginia police said the protest east of Wheeling developed a little later in the morning, when Barclay jacked up the front of his truck on an entrance ramp. He was taken before a justice of the peace, fined and released, authorities said.

Barclay said later that none of the truckers in the Ohio and West Virginia protests was involved in the Pennsylvania demonstration.

Sheriff's deputies in West Virginia said the caravan finally left the Wheeling area and moved west into Ohio.

The blockade east of Cambridge, about 55 miles west of Wheeling, began about 7 a.m., with four trucks parked abreast, claiming either mechanical problems or lack of fuel.

About 9 a.m., the trucks pulled out again, and continued west about 60 miles, where the protest near a truck stop at Hebron began at mid-morning.

The Pennsylvania truckers were summoned to protest by someone using a citizens band radio and calling himself "River Rat."

Newsmen were given a list of demands that included a 65 miles-an-hour speed limit, rather than 55 as proposed by President Nixon, and a limit of 35.9 cents a gallon on diesel fuel.

Barclay said he and other truckers are trying to launch a national protest.

"That's exactly what we're trying to do," he said. "I'd heard it was supposed to happen, just like it was supposed to happen last Friday night. Everything was supposed to shut down on the first of the month."

Ford lays off work force

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. today laid off 22,033 hourly employees at 17 U.S. plants, most of them involved in the production of large Ford and Mercury cars.

Ford plants in Sandusky and Lima will be affected, with 170 layoffs scheduled for Sandusky and some 350 at Lima. The layoffs are to be for an indefinite period. The General Products Division plant is situated at Sandusky, and the Ford engine plant at Lima.

A Ford spokesman said the layoffs were directly attributed to a 10-day strike against Ford-Canada which has cut off the flow of engines from the Windsor, Ont., engine plant.

Production of some light trucks and a smattering of other models also was affected, he said.

Ford said the workers would not be brought back to the plants until Canadian parts were provided.

The spokesman said this would take a week to 10 days after Canadian workers ratify their new agreement. He would not speculate whether work could resume at the U.S. facilities before the regular, week-long Christmas holiday.

The Canadian pact was reached in Toronto today, and operations were expected to resume at Canadian plants on Friday or Monday. The United Auto Workers concluded a separate contract with Ford last month for its U.S. workers.

Ford laid off some 2,500 workers last week, citing parts shortages.

Today's layoffs brought to nearly 200,000 the number of auto workers affected by industry layoffs in December and January. Most of the cutbacks were scheduled to be brief and are designed to reduce large car output and retool some plants to turn out small cars.

West Virginia escapees said near Columbus

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Police this morning found a 23-year-old coal miner unharmed and tied to a tree on the east side of Columbus, Ohio, just hours after two escapees from the West Virginia Penitentiary took him hostage.

Ernest George, 23, of Moundsville was forced to drive to Ohio by two men who escaped at 9:00 p.m. from the century-old maximum security prison, authorities said. He was later tied to a tree and left unharmed.

The escapees were identified as Paul Chaffin, 39, of Huntington, and John Browning, 26, of Logan. Chaffin was serving a 5-to-15 year term for second degree murder, while Browning was serving a life sentence for armed robbery.

Threatening a guard with a knife, the two inmates made their way out of the prison, where they picked up their hostage and fled, police said.

Campaign finance measure loses

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-day battle between Senate advocates of public financing of federal election campaigns and the White House has ended in defeat for the senators.

The only thing the advocates salvaged Monday was a pledge that the battle can be renewed early in the 1974 session. But it would not have the impetus of an emergency bill behind it. Sponsors of the campaign financing plan decided to give up after two

U. N. chief pushes Wednesday talks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt's leading newspaper says that the United Nations commander in the Middle East has proposed a resumption of Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire talks on Wednesday.

The semi-official Cairo paper Al Ahram said today that Finnish Lt. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo made his suggestion in a conference with Israeli military leaders in Jerusalem on Sunday. He met before the Israeli talks with Egyptian military men in Cairo and has since returned to Egypt.

Quoting a U.N. spokesman in Cairo, the paper said Siilasvuo also called on the Israelis to introduce positive proposals pertaining to a withdrawal of Israeli forces to the positions they held at the time of the first cease-fire, on Oct. 22. Egypt broke off the talks last Thursday, claiming the Israelis were stalling.

Al Ahram said Siilasvuo told the Israelis that U.N. troops would be deployed in a "defined area" between the Egyptian and Israeli troops.

Hamilton County park rangers see nasty winter in Midwest

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton County's park rangers report from their observations that the Midwest is in for a severe winter.

The long-range forecast belies that of the mild forecast made by the National Weather service.

"Natural signs observed in the field point to a nasty winter," said the Hamilton County Park District's newsletter for December.

The newsletter declared: "Butterflies began flocking early and migrating early."

"There are a lot of spiders, black bugs and worms crawling about."

"Blackberry blooms were especially heavy."

"Squirrels are building nests low in trees."

"We had foggy days in September."

"Hickory nuts have a heavy shell."

"Tree bark is heaviest on the north side."

"Katydid's were hollerin' early."

"Hornets and yellow jackets' nests are close to the ground."

"Muskrat lodges are large."

"Birds ate up all the wild berries early."

"Squirrels and rabbits have heavy fur."

"Ant hills are high."

Energy crisis

however, both from the previous weeks and from the 1972 figures.

Con Ed spokesmen were reluctant to give a reason for the decline, citing weather, population growth and other variables that would affect the amount of electricity used.

Milton Musicus, chairman of the Mayor's Emergency Energy Committee, said, however: "We must have turned the tide. We're not only cutting growth, but are making inroads into actual usage."

Pacific Gas & Electric in San Francisco said that for the week ended Nov. 24, consumption was up 2.6 per cent over the figure a year ago, but was 10.4 per cent below what had been predicted.

Bill Conley of the New England Power Exchange, whose 44 member companies account for 95 per cent of all the electricity generated in New England, said usage was estimated at four or five per cent below the forecast previously made for November.

"We believe that the decrease — or a good portion of it — is due to conservation measures," he said.

The Edison Electric Institute, which compiles nationwide statistics, confirmed that electricity usage declined during November, particularly near the end of the month. But the institute warned that its figures did not take into account variables like the weather and therefore said it could not draw any conclusions from the figures.

Some utilities tried to take into account the weather when making their computations. Public Service Electric & Gas, New Jersey's largest electrical utility, said that for the week ended Nov. 24, consumption was 509.7 million kilowatt hours, a decline of five per cent over the same period in 1972.

A company spokesman said the average temperature for Nov. 2-25 was 48.3 degrees this year compared with 44.9 degrees last year.

Commonwealth Edison Co., which supplies Chicago and much of northern Illinois, said consumption was down, but temperatures were up. "It could be a combination of weather and conservation or just weather," a spokesman said. "We just don't know."

Claude Dickens of the Kansas City Board of Public Utilities said there was a decrease of 5.8 per cent in electricity usage from October to November this year. He said it was too early to say whether a trend was developing, but added: "There is some decrease in usage that can be attributed to customer action."

Egyptian spokesman Ahmed Anis said Monday that indirect contacts were under way between Cairo and Tel Aviv to get the talks restarted. He implied that failure could jeopardize the Middle East peace talks planned for Geneva in mid-December, saying: "We cannot define our stand regarding the peace talks before the outcome of these contacts is known."

In Washington, State Department spokesman George S. Vest said the department hopes and expects "that the talks at Kilometer 101 will start later this week, and ... that these will lead to a conference." His optimism apparently resulted from the meeting Sunday between the U.S. Ambassador to Egypt, Hermann F. Eilts, and President Anwar Sadat.

Israeli and Syrian tanks and artillery duelled across the Golan Heights Monday for the second day in succession. Israel said four of its soldiers were wounded; Syria claimed 15 Israelis were wounded or killed.

The observations were made at the county's four large parks and rangers said the results, taken over the years, are indicative of a bad winter.

If the previous warnings are not convincing enough, the Park District News said, "the woolly bear caterpillar is the clincher."

"There are a lot of them; they have a thick coat, and they started creeping and crawling before the first frost."

"They have more black than brown."

the move "a step in the right direction."

Ballooning costs of a college education recently have dampened the young teachers' perspective, it was pointed out. With college costs rising an average of approximately $3,000 per year and high interest rates, a high school graduate considering a teaching career cannot be highly encouraged.

If he borrows $12,000 at 8 per cent interest to attend college and then repays it over an 11-year period working in the Washington C.H. school system, he will have only $2,000 more at the end of 15 years than a graduate who began making $5,000 per year immediately after high school. This is based on the "new salary" schedule with its yearly increments and assuming that his non-college counterpart never gets a raise.

IN OTHER matters the board approved the creation of an interscholastic basketball program for girls at Washington Senior High School. Mrs. Edward Eyre, girls' physical education teacher at the school, will be the coach. The teams will play a seven-game schedule beginning in January.

The board authorized the superintendent to enter into a contract with McClain High School, Greenfield, to rent the Senior High gymnasium for six basketball games during December, January and February. The first of these will be Saturday, Dec. 8.

The McClain gymnasium is under construction at the present time, and legal disputes are likely to cause delays in its completion.

Approval was given for staff personnel to attend professional meetings and to receive reimbursement for advanced study courses.

Pioneer 10 hurled toward deep space

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — Pioneer 10 has sailed safely through Jupiter's radiation belts and is still transmitting important data as it heads for the Milky Way.

Jubilant scientists have begun to study data that charted the shape and nature of the giant planet's magnetic field, measured the magnitude of violent radiation belts and promised to reveal delicate details of the turbulent Jovian atmosphere.

"I'm elated. What else can I say," said Charles Hall, Pioneer project manager, after the unmanned 570-pound spacecraft — nearly destroyed by violent radiation storms — swept within 81,000 miles of Jupiter's colorful cloud tufts Monday night.

Hurled onward by Jupiter's gravity, 2.6 times greater than earth's, Pioneer began a voyage which departs the solar system in 1987 and subsequently enters the Milky Way.

In case it might be encountered some day by intelligent life, the spacecraft carries a symbol-covered plaque that tells from where it came.

Project scientists estimated Monday night that Pioneer's radio might continue to send data for five years, out to a distance of two billion miles from earth near the orbit of the planet Uranus.

The intensity of electron and proton radiation trapped in belts around Jupiter grew steadily Monday as the space probe plunged toward the planet. Scientists monitoring the rising radiation feared the spacecraft might be damaged or silenced completely.

Then about an hour before Pioneer swept on past Jupiter, at 82,000 miles per hour, radiation intensity began declining. The worst was past. After worrying during the spacecraft's 21-month trip that it might never send back crucial data, the experts relaxed.

Assessing radiation afterward, Hall said Pioneer was only a few minutes away from sustaining major damage.

A tornado also was seen near Natchez, Miss., and wind damage occurred at Waldo, Ark.

From southeast Missouri through Arkansas, Mississippi and western Tennessee, heavy rains fell and flash-flood watches were in effect.

The Atlantic Coast states and most of the Southwest were under clear to partly cloudy skies. The Pacific Northwest was covered by cloudy skies, with scattered light snow in the interior.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 8 at Grand Forks, N.D., to 75 at Key West, Fla.

Stock list still slides

NEW YORK (AP) — After a brief but unenthusiastic morning rally, the stock market resumed its downward drift today as fears of a recession next year continued.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.89 at 801.63, giving up an earlier spurt that placed the index over 2 points up. Declines out-paced advances 7 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange in active trading.

With little positive news to pull the market higher, brokers continue to attribute the selling to the combined pressures of energy shortages and higher interest rates.

General Motors, already battered by recent selling, sank another 1 1/2 to 46 1/2, topping Big Board volume, followed by Fannie Mae, unchanged at 19 1/2, and Sterling Drug, off 1/4 at 27 1/2. The NYSE broad-based index dropped .34 to 49.74.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slumped .52 to 90.77 as Cutter Labs A, up 1/8 at 17 1/2, led trading. Loews Theater advanced 3/4 to 11 1/2, while Research Cottrell fell 1 1/2 to 48.

Weather conditions in Ohio are expected to remain mild today—but on the wet side, according to the National Weather Service. Thundershowers are also possible beginning over the western portion of the state Tuesday afternoon and working their way over eastern Ohio Tuesday night.

A cold front is swinging around the low center now in Missouri and should move more rapidly eastward than the low itself. By Wednesday morning it could possibly move to just east of Ohio.

At 6 a.m. Tuesday, temperatures ranged from 48 degrees near Parkersburg, W. Va., on the Ohio River, 50 degrees at Dayton, Findlay and Zanesville and up to 54 degrees in the Akron-Canton area.

From 7 p.m. Monday until 1 a.m. Tuesday only traces of rain were noted in Ohio at Findlay and Dayton, but since that time more showers have shown up on radar.

A chance of rain Thursday and Friday. Highs Thursday in the 40s. Highs Friday and Saturday in the 40s and low 50s. Lows from the mid 20s to low 30s early Thursday and from the mid 30s to low 40s Thursday and Friday nights.

Solons given advance look at Nixon financial papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has given selected Republican leaders an advance glimpse at a thick stack of personal financial reports he plans to release publicly this week.

The unannounced White House meeting Monday came as unofficial calculations indicated Nixon apparently was entitled to sizeable refunds in the last three years because of over-withholding of federal taxes from his salary.

Farm-related shortages eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department hopes to begin soon a series of comprehensive weekly reports showing highlights of the fuel shortage as it relates to farmers.

Currently, the department's main custodian of fuel surveys is the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), which also administers crop programs.

A spokesman said Monday, however, that other agencies also may be asked to contribute data, which then can be used to show an over-all view of the energy crunch on farmers.

In a report made public Monday, the diesel fuel supplies were "tight to critical" in many states where field work was still under way. Officials said scattered cases were reported from California, Texas, Nebraska, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, South Carolina and Maine.

Some farmers also reported they had used all their fuel allocations for 1973 by November, the report said. Those reports came from Illinois, Nebraska, South Carolina and Maryland.

The report said the administration's mandatory allocation program for diesel and other middle-distillate fuels, which began Nov. 1, "continues to cause confusion among suppliers" and has resulted in delayed or reduced deliveries to farmers.

Officials noted that the Office of Petroleum Allocation recently issued advisory notices to the oil industry in an effort to improve the situation.

"However, these notices seem to filter slowly through the petroleum industry, and distributors of farm fuels often hesitate to provide additional fuel to farmers until they receive instructions through company channels," the report said.

The snarls in getting adequate fuels to farmers this fall has prompted some members of Congress to call for more priority for agricultural energy.

Property damage crashes reported

An accident which did moderate damage to two cars occurred at the Market-North street intersection at 7:09 a.m., Tuesday, police reported.

A car driven by John Robert Lutz, 46, of 523 Temple St., collided with one driven by Timothy L. Frederick, 19, of 234 North Bend Court.

The drivers were uninjured. Police brought a charge of backing without safety against Omar A. Morris, 57, of Mount Sterling, after Morris backed his car from its street parking space into a car driven by Mary J. Burris, 17, of 717 Clinton Ave.

The accident occurred on Western Avenue. The Sheriff's Department reported an accident in which a Washington C.H. man ran off U.S. 62, hitting a fence owned by Ray Jinks of Rt. 2, and a highway sign.

The mishap occurred at 5:35 p.m. Monday. Carl Gray, 24, E. Market St., was unhurt.

An accident at the Mount Olive-Palmer Road intersection at 1:30 a.m., Sunday, was reported by sheriff's deputies. Jimmy D. Chrisman was unable to stop for the traffic sign at the junction and left the north side of Palmer Road hitting a fence owned by M.W. Libby of U.S. 35-NW.

The auto was moderately damaged. A mishap which occurred on the Kroger parking lot Saturday was incorrectly reported in Monday's Record-Herald. Edsel L. Kinzer, 51, of 1101 Campbell St., backed into a car driven by Alice F. Wills, 35, of Rt. 3, Washington C.H.

Deputy state treasurer is club speaker

An explanation of functions of the state treasurer's office was given to members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club following their dinner meeting Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

Wayne A. Maloon, deputy state treasurer since 1971, explained to Kiwanians that the 135 employees of the state treasurer's office are hired by the treasurer and usually are employed only during the treasurer's term or terms of office.

Maloon, a native of Darke County, said the employees have no civil service protection and that the philosophy behind this thinking is that the treasurer should be free to hire those people he feels he can trust.

He said one million warrants are processed each month through the data processing division of the treasurer's office. The office is the custodian of all state retirement systems which means it oversees a $7 billion investment. Each day, Maloon said, there is a cash flow of $30 million through the office.

MALOOON, a member of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, said the state treasurer's office also serves as a research center for legislators, the governor's office and other public offices as well as local governments in all 88 counties.

Maloon answered questions concerning state indebtedness and the state lottery, which is due to become operational early next summer.

The program was arranged by Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner, and Maloon was introduced by Gary Smith, a Washington C.H. attorney.

President George Gibbs, who conducted the business meeting, reminded members to bring their Christmas gifts for nursing home shut-ins, and to make plans for the annual Christmas party which will be held Dec. 17 at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Chamber education committee and school officials will meet Thursday afternoon to discuss the 1974 Business-Industry-Education Day program that is tentatively scheduled for early February.

The Chamber's executive board will meet at 7:30 a.m. Friday to prepare the agenda for the Dec. 13 meeting to be held at 8 a.m. in the Chamber office.

Lancione eyes Senate vacancy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, would accept an interim appointment to the U.S. Senate if offered him by Gov. John G. Gilligan, he said Monday.

But the speaker pointed out that Gilligan will have no appointment to make unless Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, is confirmed as the president's nominee for U.S. attorney general.

The governor's office remained non-committal about a possible vacancy. Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary, said "about 70 names have been recommended to us, and our policy had been not to comment on names. We will continue that policy in this case."

The key: Belt-tightening

In his address on the energy crisis President Nixon acknowledged that it was severe, suggested that it could be dealt with if everyone would cooperate in some belt-tightening, and announced that what he calls "Project Independence - 1980" would assure a return to energy abundance. Each of these points made by the President warrants some comment.

Both Congress and the administration are vulnerable to the criticism that they were slow to grasp the dimensions of the energy problem that confronts the nation, and slow to respond. That stage has now passed: both branches now clearly recognize the severity of the problem. Mr. Nixon underscored this, noting that we face "a major crisis" and that this "is now being felt around the world."

He then went on to say that the pinch is far worse in other industrial nations than it is in the United States, since our country "is not as dependent on Middle Eastern oil as many other nations." This may be true in the short run, but a vital element was missing from the President's assessment. The salient fact is that, with energy consumption steadily on the rise and potential oil supplies dwindling, the nation is in for long-range trouble.

Seen in this light, President Nixon's appraisal of what might be done through Project Independence - 1980 sounds over-optimistic. "Achieving and maintaining self-sufficiency in energy" sounds fine. A look at the prospects - for more domestic oil, for exploitation of shale oil, for high-temperature reduction of coal to provide oil - suggests that supplies will not keep pace with the demands of a growing population which has been profligate with energy.

"As we look to the future," said the President, "we can do so confident that the energy crisis will be resolved, not only for our time, but for all time. We will once again have those plentiful supplies of inexpensive energy which helped to build the greatest industrial nation... in the world."

One's impulse is to say amen to that. One is attracted to the idea - and there is much in the American record to support it - that somehow ways will be found to supply all the energy the nation requires. But as Robert Entwistle reminds us in the Sierra Club Bulletin, "... the average American uses more energy in a week than a man living 150 years ago used in a lifetime."

The answer lies not in boundless energy, but in conservation. Belt tightening may get us through the present crisis, but there is more to the matter than that. Belt tightening, by which we mean more prudent use of whatever energy is available, must become a way of life for the indeterminate future.

Both Congress and the administration are vulnerable to the criticism that they were slow to grasp the dimensions of the energy problem that confronts the nation, and slow to respond. That stage has now passed: both branches now clearly recognize the severity of the problem. Mr. Nixon underscored this, noting that we face "a major crisis" and that this "is now being felt around the world."

He then went on to say that the pinch is far worse in other industrial nations than it is in the United States, since our country "is not as dependent on Middle Eastern oil as many other nations." WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Nuclear arsenals pose world problem

WASHINGTON — "We possess — each of us — nuclear arsenals capable of annihilating humanity. We — both of us — have a special duty to see to it that confrontations are kept within bounds that do not threaten civilized life . . . It is easy to start confrontations but in this age we have to know where we will be at the end and not only what pose we strike at the beginning." — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at his Oct. 25 press conference.

Of all the duties that press down on the secretary that concise summary expresses the weight of his most overwhelming responsibility.

Although as by a conspiracy of dread it is for the most part kept out of sight and out of mind, the nuclear dilemma must be the paramount concern, and hiding it from sight is a form of ostrichism that says a lot about where mankind is and where it may go.

OCCASIONALLY the nuclear curtain of secrecy is lifted as it was during the Middle East war. Reports without official confirmation had it that the Soviet Union furnished Egypt with nuclear weapons.

The authoritative commentator, Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, called on Egypt to develop its own nuclear arsenal, coupling this with a statement that Israel had three atomic bombs.

The shock waves from this went a long way. I believe the facts as closely as they can be determined are as follows:

Egypt did not receive nuclear weapons. The fear was that Cairo would be supplied with shells with nuclear explosives for use in the SCUD missiles with a range of at least 200 miles, which are now on Egyptian soil. As to Israel, a majority of the intelligence community believes the Israelis do have atomic weapons.

You can look at this in the most cynical way, since American nuclear weapons are distributed throughout the Mediterranean area. They are on the ships of the Sixth Fleet patrolling that region. They can be released only by Commander-in-Chief Richard Nixon, although after that release they can be fired by Allied weaponers.

A SUBCOMMITTEE of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has just released a report which undertakes to look into the maze of the thousands of varied types of nuclear devices on foreign soil. Heavily censored as it is, the report prepared by two staff members, James G. Lowenstein and Richard Moore, for Sen. Stuart Symington's subcommittee on U.S. commitments abroad throws some light on the multiplicity of these weapons of annihilation cached abroad.

Here is an example of what censorship by the Departments of State and Defense and the Atomic Energy Commission means:

"As of July 31 of this year we were told there were in fact (deleted) land-based nuclear weapons in support of NATO Europe stored at over 100 special ammunition sites in (deleted) European countries — (deleted). About one-third of these sites are for weapons to be used by U.S. forces. The remaining two-thirds are for weapons to be used by Allied forces, although all nuclear weapons in Europe are kept in the custody of the United States whether they are for the use of U.S. or foreign forces. None of the sites is closer than (deleted) miles from the nearest Warsaw Pact frontier.

"Of these (deleted) warheads, (deleted) were in (deleted). In addition, there were (deleted) and (deleted) warheads of various types committed to NATO on some (deleted) ships."

WHAT MAKES this somewhat farcical is that both Soviet and Allied intelligence have in all probability a pretty fair count on the numbers of these weapons and their geographical location. Only the American public is ignorant of the enormous cost and the great risk of this proliferation on foreign soil of nuclear death.

Two scorpions in a bottle was the vivid description of the nuclear dilemma 20 years ago. Today there are five scorpions in the bottle — China, France and Britain besides the two superpowers. Israel would make a sixth.

The fundamental truth never to be lost sight of in Kissinger's statement is that both superpowers have arsenals capable of annihilating humanity. For all the screaming of the big-weapons screamers, so long as this prevails it is a deterrent no matter how big the mountain of overkill.

State tax returns to be mailed

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After Christmas, state workers plan to rush to the post office with four million individual income tax returns.

If they're late, it could cost Ohio and eventually the taxpayers $300,000.

The Ohio Department of Taxation wants to mail the returns after Christmas but before higher postage rates take effect on Jan. 1.

"We don't want to mail the returns during the Christmas rush because they will probably get lost," said Stan Spaulding, department spokesman. "So the returns will be mailed in the days after Christmas."

Spaulding added, "They will be out before Jan. 1. We want to make the deadline."

The cost of mailing the 16-page booklets will be $640,000, the same as in 1972, he said. If the deadline is not met, he said, the cost would go up $300,000.

He said the entire postage fee must be paid when the forms are taken to the post office.

The U.S. Postal Service plans to charge two cents more an ounce for bulk mailings after the first of the year.

Spaulding said the income tax form has been changed from last year's publication. He said it matches the federal return and makes handling the state copy easier.

Last year, taxpayers received an envelope containing a small instruction booklet, forms and a return envelope.

This year, Ohioans can expect only a booklet with a return envelope inside.

The booklet, printed by National Graphics Corp. at a cost of $260,000, will contain instructions, two copies each of the short form and the long form and all the necessary tax tables.

Spaulding said changes have been in the booklet's instructions to make them easier for the reader. He said many valid suggestions were made by taxpayers.

The 8½-by-11-inch booklet has been printed with blue lettering and with some red to emphasize directions. The front-page of the booklet will carry an address label, which can be peeled off and affixed to the return envelope.

The deadline for the returns is April 15, same as the federal income tax.

School stove said stolen

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—They had to close the two-room Amish school at West Farmington because someone stole a stove.

Trumbull County sheriff's deputies said someone broke into the building Friday night and took one of two stoves. The remaining stove would not heat the entire building, so classes were canceled Monday for the 42 pupils.

School officials said the stove should have had fire in it when it was taken, but sheriff's deputies said the trail was cold by the time they were called.

Eli Detweiler, clerk of the Bundysburg Amish school board said it will cost $150 to replace the stove—if a replacement can be found.

Because of the energy crisis, there has been a run on wood and coal stoves in this area. Dealers say they have been sold out for six weeks.

Dennison resigns from FTC position

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of David S. Dennison as a member of the Federal Trade Commission, effective Dec. 31, was accepted Monday by President Nixon.

Dennison, 55, a former House member from Ohio, plans to return to a private law practice. He has served on the FTC since 1970.

Dear Abby:

One good look won't break up the family

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 47 and I'm 45. Five years ago he had an affair with a young woman who works at the factory where he works. It's all over now and I have forgiven him, but another problem has come up. I have a 24-year-old daughter who started working at the factory where her father and this old flame of his are still working.

Different people who work there have told me that my daughter has been going around asking people if they know in which department her father's old girl friend works so she can get a look at her. She told her foreman she just wanted to see if she could see what her father saw in that lady that made him flip his lid and hurt me so much.

What can I do about this? I don't want my daughter to see this woman. Worrying about it has made me a nervous wreck.

NIGHTMARES IN R.I.

DEAR NIGHTMARES: You can't stop your daughter from trying to satisfy her curiosity. So what if she does see this woman? The affair is over, so put it out of your mind and don't make a federal case out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a BIG problem. My nose. Both my parents have noses like you wouldn't believe, so it's no wonder.

I have no brother or sisters. I joke about it, saying, "after my parents saw me they decided not to have any more." (It's probably true.)

I have friends, but I've never had a date. I'm always clowning around, laughing at myself, but inside, my heart is breaking because I feel so ugly with this nose.

I've begged my parents to give me a nose job but my father says it's too expensive, and my mother says if people don't like me for myself they are false friends.

I'm a good student but I want to quit school and get a job so I can start saving for a nose job. I need it NOW, not 10 years from now. Do you know of any plastic surgeon who will do my nose now and let me pay him later? I'll sit with his kids, I'll scrub his floors at home or at his office. I'll do anything. Abby, if he'll fix my nose and let me pay him on time. Please?

"SCHNOZ!"
DEAR SCHNOZ: Send me your name and address and I'll do a little nosing around for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am glad that airlines are now separating smokers from nonsmokers, but can't something be done to help office workers who don't smoke, yet are obligated to spend eight hours a day, five days a week in closed offices with workers who smoke all day long?

Nonsmokers are made miserable by the thoughtlessness of our fellow workers, not to mention the harm done to our hearts and lungs by forced breathing of others' smoke for hours. Many don't dare complain because the boss and his secretary both smoke, and they, with other smokers, would be furious if we protested.

We need our jobs, many being too near retirement to think of seeking employment elsewhere. Can't the Environmental Protection Agency set standards for offices in this country?

What IS the answer for this category of long-suffering nonsmokers?

SICK FROM SMOKE IN N. Mex.
DEAR SICK: I wish I knew. You can't legislate consideration for others. Most cigar smokers are aware that they offend nonsmokers, but are either too hooked to refrain or too selfish to care. I just wish they would voluntarily go somewhere else to indulge their habits.

placed before the voters again at the May primary election.

Submitting the issue for another vote in spring was the overwhelming attitude of nearly 30 persons who attended a meeting designed to review the results from the defeat of the bond issue which was held Monday night at Miami Trace High School.

Kenneth Payton, president of the Fayette County Board of Education, assured those attending the meeting that the board will seriously consider the recommendation and take action at a future board meeting.

THE BOARD, should it decide to resubmit the bond issue, must adopt a resolution of necessity prior to Jan. 17 so that the issue can appear on the May ballot.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster recapped efforts of the 1970 and 1973 elections to show improvement through statistics on voting results and detailed legal requirements for placing another issue before the voters to the 30 persons, most of whom were very active in Phil Grover, co-chairman of the bond issue campaign, said he feels that the overall attitude concerning the issue is basically sound, and no one found any major faults. Ralph Vanzant, co-chairman, said the feedback he had received pointed out that the campaign should have been started earlier.

Major concern was expressed over operating costs and most felt that funds should be obtained from the state level. Financing and the building site were also discussed.

Saxbe bill must face conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—A measure cutting the pay of the attorney general so that Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, can take the job was approved Monday by the House.

Similar legislation has already been passed by the Senate, but it will not yet go to President Nixon because unrelated House amendments have to be considered by the Senate.

The action is necessary because the Constitution forbids a member of Congress from taking a post for which the salary was increased during his term.

The pay for attorney general was raised from $35,000 to $60,000 in 1969, while Saxbe was in the Senate, and thus is being cut back to $35,000 to make Saxbe eligible for the job.

He was selected for the post by President Nixon after Elliot L. Richardson resigned over the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Opponents have argued that the bill will not overcome the constitutional ban, however, and the measure provides for a speedy court test.

House amendments tightening regulations on mail sent by members of Congress under their free mailing privileges now go to the Senate for consideration.

Organization of lottery scheduled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The new State Lottery Commission will meet in Columbus Wednesday to elect a chairman and begin other organizational work.

Gov. John Gilligan recently named David Leahy of Cleveland, Louis Goldman of Dayton, Bernice Mackenzie of Canton, Mary Yates of Cleveland and Richard Rust of Cincinnati to the commission to operate the lottery, authorized by voters in November.

Meanwhile, a state senator said Monday the lottery should be operated from Columbus because of its centralized location.

"Why should some citizens be forced to drive five or six hours to conduct business with a state agency when that agency could be within a three-hour drive of nearly all Ohio citizens?" asked Sen. Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus.

Money Does Matter . . .

By Robert E. English

IT'S "KNOW-HOW" THAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE - ESPECIALLY WITH MONEY

Really, it isn't easy to do the right thing with money.

Some people never have enough of it, others never make the best use of it.

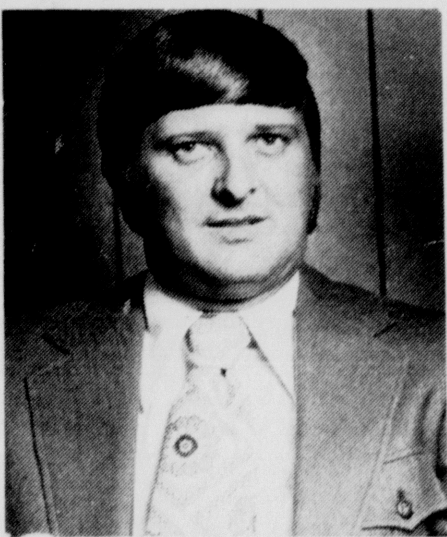

Why? They just don't handle money well.

It is a hard task, using money wisely. But, it can be done.

Those who know something about money are in a position to handle it better.

Most of us work very hard for our money. We should work just as hard to use it in the right way. We'll live better, if we do.

One important thought: Do not hesitate to ask for and consider carefully the advice and counsel your banker is ready to provide without cost. He does want to help.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Bidwell on celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary Thursday, November 29, 1973.

Also to Debbie Duff, a Miami Trace High School graduate, who was awarded a National scholarship for outstanding achievement in the 4-H Home Environment program.

We are concerned about your concerns, especially when it comes to money matters.

At The First National Bank of Washington Court House we've learned a few things we'll be happy to pass along to you - helping you live better!

This holiday eggnog is colorful

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
For Christmas or New Year entertaining, you may be interested in a new recipe for a spirited fruit-flavored eggnog. This nog is different from the usual variety: it is an attractive pink color and it's so thick that it is served with spoons.

Should any of the eggnog be left over, stir it up vigorously (there's a little separation as it stands) and turn it into an ice-cube tray; freeze. The frozen nog is delightful and useful to have on hand for a extra holiday dessert.

HOLIDAY EGGNOG

6 eggs, separated
1/2 cup superfine sugar
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Hawaiian punch, thawed
1/2 cup bourbon
3 cups heavy cream, whipped
Ground or whole nutmeg
In a small mixing bowl beat egg yolks until fluffy; gradually beat in 1/4 cup of the sugar until thickened and lemon color. Gradually stir in the punch, keeping smooth. Gradually stir in bourbon and brandy. Transfer to a large chilled serving bowl. Fold in whipped cream. Refrigerate.

Meanwhile in a clean medium mixing bowl with a clean beater, beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in the remaining 1/4 cup sugar and continue beating until stiff; fold into egg yolk mixture. Chill at least 1 hour.

The cost of bread is not cost of wheat

DES MOINES (AP) — The editor of one of the nation's leading farm publications says that wheat prices shouldn't be blamed for the rising price of bread.

Al Bull, writing in Wallaces Farmer, says, "Wheat in a loaf of bread usually is less than one pound. So even $5 wheat, which no miller has had to pay yet, amounts to only eight cents per loaf."

"That's still a small part of the total price, so don't buy wheat price as the real reason for increases in price of bread," he says.

British dalia show goes to metric measure

LONDON (AP) — Britain's slow progress toward conversion to the metric system took one more step with the announcement that dahlias are "going metric."

Following the decision of the National Dahlia Society that flowers exhibited at its shows must now conform to metric measurements, special sizing rings are being issued for use by judges.

New limits for blooms are: large 260 millimeters, medium 220 mm, small 170 mm, miniature 115 mm and pom-poms 50 mm.

College All-American's culled

NEW YORK (AP) — The first freshman in 29 years — tailback Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh — and three repeaters — Randy Gradishar and John Hicks of Ohio State and Richard Wood of Southern California — have been named to The Associated Press All-America college football team for 1973.

The 5-foot-11, 175-pound Dorsett finished as the nation's second leading rusher with 1,586 yards in 11 games as Pitt posted its first winning record in 10 years and first bowl bid since 1956.

The last freshman to win first-team honors was fullback Doc Blanchard of Army in 1944. Blanchard was an All-American three times but graduated from West Point in three years under an accelerated war-time course of study and was not on hand to play as a senior.

Joining Dorsett in the backfield are fullback Roosevelt Leaks of Texas and tailback John Cappelletti of Penn State, who finished fourth and fifth in the national rushing statistics, and quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas, who set six Big Eight Conference passing records.

The AP All-America team will appear on the Bob Hope Special on NBC-TV Dec. 9 at 9 p.m., EST.

Besides the backs and offensive tackle Hicks, the offensive team consists of wide receiver Lynn Swann of Southern California, tight end Andre Tillman of Texas Tech, tackle Buddy Brown of Alabama, guards Tyler Lafauci of Louisiana State and Bill Yoest of North Carolina State and center Bill Wyman of Texas.

Joining linebackers Gradishar and Wood on the defensive team are ends Pat Donovan of Stanford and Randy White of Maryland, tackles John Dutton of Nebraska and Dave Gallagher of Michigan, middle guard Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, linebacker Rod Shoate of Oklahoma and secondary men Jimmy Allen of UCLA, Artimus Parker of Southern California and Mike Townsend of Notre Dame.

The team is composed of freshman Dorsett, 16 seniors and five juniors — Wood, Leaks, Donovan, White and Shoate.

Dorsett is unquestionably the greatest freshman running back in history. His 1,586 yards smashed the previous best by a freshman — 1,291 by New Mexico State's Po James in 1968. His 265 yards against Northwestern in his third varsity game was the best performance ever by a freshman and his 209 yards against nationally ranked Notre Dame were the most ever allowed by a Notre Dame team.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno calls Cappelletti "the best player I've ever been around."

The 6-1, 215-pounder carried 286 times for 1,522 yards and 16 touchdowns and also caught 22 passes for 207 yards and a touchdown.

Leaks, a bone-crunching 220-pounder, led Texas to its sixth consecutive Southwest Conference championship with a league record 1,415 yards, including a brilliant 342-yard game against Southern Methodist, only eight yards shy of the national one-game mark.

Jaynes completed 172 of 330 passes for 2,131 yards and 13 touchdowns and was intercepted only nine times, one of the best interception ratios ever. His finest performance came in a 28-27 loss to nationally ranked Tennessee when he connected on 35 of 58 passes for 394 yards. He holds every Kansas passing mark but one.

Southern Cal Coach John McKay calls receiver-kick returner Swann "as valuable to us as Johnny Rodgers was to Nebraska. In our offense, he is called on to run, block and catch passes and he is excellent at all three."

Tight end Tillman is a 6-5, 230-pounder equally adept at blocking or receiving.

The offensive interior linemen — Hicks, Brown, Lafauci, Yoest and Wyman — are great blockers. In fact, Ohio State's Woody Hayes calls Hicks "the best offensive lineman I have ever coached," including Hall of Famer Jim Parker.

The most notorious names on the defensive unit are Selmon, teammate Shoate and Wood.

Coach Barry Switzer calls Selmon "the greatest down lineman we've ever had here, and we've had some really great ones." Shoate, according to Switzer, "looks like one of those guided missiles — swoosh!...and he's got the ballcarrier. He's intelligent and a great open-field tackler. And he's mean." Shoate also is the fastest man on the Oklahoma team in a 40-yard dash.

Wood called defensive signals as a sophomore for Southern Cal's national champs last season and McKay termed him "the best linebacker I've had at this stage of his development. He has great strength and quickness and is fast as most backs."

Townsend of Notre Dame was the nation's leading interceptor last year. This season, teams avoided his area but against Pitt, for example, he broke up two sure touchdown passes in the end zone and tackled Dorsett after a 65-yard run to save still another score.

Parker of USC topped the Pacific-8 Conference with eight interceptions, making him one of the nation's leaders. He returned the eight steals for 100 yards and he holds the conference career record of 20 interceptions.

Woodrow, Mossbarger mentioned in voting

Two Miami Trace football stars were named to the Associated Press All-Ohio Class AAA team, which was released today.

John Woodrow and Jay Mossbarger, who landed first team berths on the All-Southeastern Ohio District Class AAA football team, were named on the All-Ohio honorable mention list.

Woodrow, a 6-foot-5, 260-pound senior, landed All-South Central Ohio League honors this season after being an honorable mention pick a year ago. Woodrow had 25 individual tackles and 27 tackles behind the line of scrimmage this season. He also blocked three passes and caused four fumbles.

Besides being one of Miami Trace's defensive stalwarts, Mossbarger was an offensive mainspring. The 6-foot-0, 180-pound junior, who won an All-SCOL first team berth at tight end, grabbed 23 passes for 252 yards and an average of 11.0. He scored 40 points and led the SCOL in receptions, scoring the total offense for a tight end.

Woodrow was a first team defensive tackle on the All-District team and Mossbarger was the first team defensive end.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ted Bell of Youngstown Mooney and Stan Johnson of Sandusky are The Associated Press Ohio Class AAA high school football Players of the Year.

The two, highly sought by major colleges across the nation, lead The AP's 1973 allstate selections, picked on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Coach of the Year honors went to Don Bucci of Youngstown Mooney, whose team won all but one game and won the Ohio Class AAA playoff title.

Bucci barely edged Joe Novak of poll champion Warren Western Reserve, Jerry Faust of Cincinnati Moeller and Stu Stearns of Bowling Green.

Bell, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound speedster, rushed for more than 4,000 yards in his career and is considered the finest back ever in the Youngstown area.

Bell played both ways for the playoff champions as a halfback. He piled up more than 2,000 grounds yards this year, including one game of 360 yards against Austintown Fitch.

Sandusky officials consider the 6-4, 250-pound Johnson as the best player ever for that school although he plays the unheralded defensive position of middle guard.

The only first team repeater from the 1972 squad is Jeff Logan, a 5-10, 181-pound halfback from North Canton Hoover.

Irish vault to 3rd spot in college grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame climbed into third place in The Associated Press ratings today, setting up a super Sugar Bowl meeting on New Year's Eve between the nation's two highest ranking eligible bowl teams.

Notre Dame will meet No. 1-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl in a game that probably will determine college football's national champion for 1973.

Alabama helped close out the regular season Saturday with a 35-0 trouncing of Auburn. The Crimson Tide received 34 first-place votes and 1,090 points from the 58 sports writers and broadcasters across the country who participated in the final regular season balloting.

The national champion will be determined in a poll following the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Oklahoma held onto second place with a 45-18 walloping of Oklahoma State. The Sooners received 16 first-place votes and 1,023 points as they continued their season-long role of spoilers.

Although ineligible for a bowl game because of recruiting violations, Oklahoma soundly defeated both Cotton Bowl teams — Texas and Nebraska — tied Southern California's Rose Bowl-bound defending national champions and beat two other bowl teams — Missouri and Kansas.

Notre Dame, fifth a week ago, earned two first-place votes and 810 points after closing out its first perfect regular season since 1949 by crushing

Miami of Florida 44-0.

The Irish climbed past idle Ohio State and Michigan, which each slipped a notch to fourth and fifth, respectively. The former received two first-place votes and 799 points while Michigan got one first-place ballot and 780 points.

The remaining three first-place votes went to unbeaten Penn State, which stayed in sixth place with 679 points.

Southern California held onto seventh place while Texas moved up from ninth to eighth replacing Louisiana State. UCLA rose from 10th to ninth and Arizona State climbed from 11th to 10th.

Tulane's 14-0 triumph over LSU dropped the Tigers from eighth to 13th while allowing Tulane to re-enter the Top Twenty. The Green Wave is 17th.

The Second Ten consists of Texas Tech, Nebraska, LSU, Houston, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Tulane, Maryland, Kansas and Tennessee.

Last week, it was Arizona State, Texas Tech, Nebraska, Houston, Miami, N.C. State, Kansas, Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-1816-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

"I was just thinking about getting the ball into John Shumate," Clay said. "But they sagged on him so I shot. I just prayed the ball would go in."

When Ohio State wasn't ganging up on Shumate, he was ganging up on the Buckeyes as he led both teams with 25 points.

Marquette had little trouble with Portland, outscoring the Oregon school 22-2 early in the first half on its way to a 46-19 halftime lead as Maurice Lucas paved the way with 15 points and 11 rebounds. The only basket Portland could register during its scoring drought was on a goaltending call.

Freshman Wesley Cox came off the bench late in the first half, pumped in 13 points before the intermission and added 10 more in the second half as Louisville held off Houston.

Houston's Maurice Presley and Louisville's Bill Butler shared scoring honors with 24 points apiece.

Dwight Clay guides Irish over Buckeyes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dwight Clay led a furious Notre Dame rally Monday night which carried the eighth-ranked Fighting Irish to a 76-72 overtime victory over Ohio State in college basketball.

Clay sank his first crucial basket with seven seconds remaining in regulation time, tying the game at 67-67 and forcing the overtime. After the two schools traded field goals in the overtime, Clay scored again to put Notre Dame ahead for good.

In other college basketball action involving teams in the Top Twenty: sixth-ranked Providence clobbered St. Leo 84-44; seventh-ranked Marquette rolled over Portland 83-46; ninth-ranked Louisville trimmed 14th-ranked Houston 87-81 and Kansas upset 10th-ranked Kentucky 71-63.

Stanford knocked off San Francisco, No. 11, 63-61 in overtime; Arizona, No. 15, downed Colorado 91-76 and Jacksonville, No. 17, edged Oklahoma 66-64.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the nation's economy may slow dramatically next year if the Arab oil cut-off continues, there probably won't be a reduction in business support for nationally-broadcast programs on public television.

That's the tentative word from Ward Chamberlin Jr., a senior vice president at the Public Broadcasting Service. He even says the possible business downturn might help public TV.

"It's really sheer speculation at this point, but it may be an advantage to us in a certain way," he said.

"There may be certain businesses that want to keep their names before the public in a certain way, yet still won't want to go into great big advertising programs on commercial television."

The "certain way" to which he referred is the corporate underwriting of national public TV programs, which he said totalled about $5 million this season, slightly above last season's corporate effort.

A corporation isn't allowed to advertise on public TV.

But when it helps underwrite PBS shows, the aid is noted in a brief announcement at the start and end of the program. It usually says "this program was made possible in part by" the corporation helping pick up the tab.

Major underwriters this year have included Exxon, Mobil, Eastman Kodak, IBM, Xerox, Bristol-Myers, 3-M, General Telephone and McDonalds. They helped pay for shows ranging from "Zoom" to "Theater in America."

The underwriting, done to help build the company's public image, is a relatively small slice of the $35 million spent last year on national public TV shows, said Chamberlin, noting that most of the money came from foundations and federal sources.

"But it's significant to us because any amount is small when you look at the over-all funding of public television throughout the country," he said. "It cost us about $180 million over-all last season to keep this system running."

Chamberlin, who deals with the corporations in trying to develop private support for national public TV programming, doubted the possible economic slowdown next year will force them to reduce their financial support in the 1974-75 season.

"I don't think there's going to be any cutbacks, as far as I can see," he said. "Our objective is going to be to interest new corporations, not just rely on the 15 or so corporations which so far have been the basic (business) support of national programming in public television."

However, he added, "I think if anything it may be a little harder to interest new companies into coming into public television next year. It may be more difficult to bring new companies into the fold."

See dual Senate race endorsement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Howard Metzbaum and John Glenn could get a joint party endorsement in their bid for the 1974 Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

Governor John J. Gilligan was quoted Monday by an aide as saying he would like to see an open contest between the two major contenders.

Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary, said the governor has indicated a joint endorsement could solve the problem although "I haven't heard him say it flatly."

Gilligan told a Democratic candidates' screening committee over the weekend he favors "the principal" of endorsement, as opposed to no stand by the state party.

Metzbaum, who also appeared before the committee, said he would not want an endorsement if his polling showed it would hurt Gilligan's re-election bid or divide the Democrats.

Glenn reiterated that he thinks there should be no endorsement. The screening committee is expected to pass its recommendations along to the Ohio Executive Committee, which will make a final decision.

Metzbaum, who lost to GOP Sen. Robert Taft Jr. in Ohio's 1970 senatorial contest, already has declared for the May 1974 Democratic contest.

Humanities Council to meet

Members of the local Humanities Council will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Washington Senior High School choir room with Dr. Ronald Cummings, an English professor from Wittenberg University.

Last year the Council was formed by interested citizens who arranged for three visiting teams from the National Humanities Series to present programs in our community. This series is funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities which is supported by taxes.

"This year the concept of the Humanities program has changed somewhat", according to Mrs. Robert Lee, coordinator of the local council. "Instead of three teams, we will have a professor from Ohio visit Washington C.H. three times this spring at three-week intervals. Dr. Cummings will spend two days in our community meeting with groups of eight to 10 people who will discuss vital issues confronting man today."

When Mrs. Martha Harkin, field coordinator of the National Humanities Series Mid-Western Center, University of Wisconsin, met with the council last week, she stressed that the professor would not lecture and the group with whom he meets will not be required to study. "These meetings would hopefully be an exchange of ideas by interested persons in our community who care about mankind and enjoy personal growth", Mrs. Lee said.

"On Thursday night we plan to resolve which type of program would best suit the desires of Fayette Countians," Mrs. Lee continued. "Any individual who is interested in this type of program and wants to serve on the Council is most welcome. We need a homogeneous mixture on the Council to assure a well-balanced program."

Serving on the local Humanities Council are Mrs. Bobbie Lanum, publicity chairman; Mrs. Sam Sauer, satellite program development chairman; Mrs. Suzanne Sams, Edwin Nestor, Mrs. Louis Baer, Don Riber, Miss Beverly Baer, Mrs. Jane Gardner, and William Sollars.

Blast rips office suite; 2 injured

NEW YORK (AP) — A suite of offices used by a number of small political groups was heavily damaged by an explosion Monday night and two occupants were injured.

Police said the explosion that knocked out walls of the third floor suite at 150 Fifth Avenue between 20th and 21st Streets apparently was caused by a bomb placed behind a radiator in the hallway.

Four persons were in the office at the time, and two were taken to Columbus

Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Principal occupants of the office are the U.S. Committee for Justice to Latin American Prisoners and the Political Rights Defense Fund.

The office also is used by the Committee for a Democratic Election Law and the Women's National Abortion Action Council, and as an answering service for the New York Council for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

Frank Grinnon, of the U.S. Committee for Justice to Latin American Prisoners, suggested that the explosion might be an attempt to "intimidate" his group and keep the committee from holding a planned protest demonstration Wednesday against the Chilean junta.

He said the other main occupant, the Political Rights Defense Fund, was bringing suit against the Nixon administration "for political crimes" related to Watergate.

Free Blood Donations Urged

I needed several transfusions when I was in the hospital. I was petrified because of stories I had read about the infected blood sometimes used accidentally for transfusions.

With my doctor's permission, when I recovered I and my whole family donated blood to the hospital in gratitude for their kindness to me.

Isn't this a wonderful way to eliminate the dangers of infected blood?

Mr. B.L., N.Y.

Dear Mr. L.: Yours is a brilliant idea which could well be incorporated in the new national plans to change the whole system of blood banking.

It is expected that in the next two years the collection of blood will be on an all-volunteer basis. No longer will blood be taken from paid blood donors. This may obviate the major problem of transfusion hepatitis that is traced to unreliable and unacceptable blood donors.

Blood is needed and absolutely essential. If the dangerous practice of buying blood is to be eliminated, your idea of collecting blood from grateful volunteers may be most important.

Scientists are making concentrated efforts to devise blood substitutes in an effort to stave off the major problem of the shortage of blood.

The gift of a pint is a thoughtful consideration. It is a gift that frequently rebounds to save the life of the donor when he himself has a need for a safe blood transfusion.

Our daughter was almost killed while riding a bicycle. When first we read one of your articles pleading for precautions about bicycle riding we thought it was far-fetched.

I hope other people will learn from our near-tragedy and take greater precautions.

Mrs. T.F.B., Miss.

Dear Mrs. B.: Thank you for your thoughtfulness in

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

In the past, lensmen had great fun photographing the outdoor Christmas lighting, homes, and the downtown areas, both here and in nearby towns, furnished beautiful subjects for night time pictures. So maybe this year there won't be all that wattage, but there is still much to photograph. In the downtown area the Christmas store windows are prettier than ever. Have you seen Steen's windows? You'll see nothing to surpass these windows anywhere. Solder's windows are always quite well done and in good taste. Did you ever stop to think how lucky we are to have such a good downtown shopping area? Several of the traveling salesmen who call on me wait 'til they get to Washington C. H. to shop for many things, especially shoes. Also hair cuts; they like Babe's for haircuts.

Shopping here in town has many advantages, and since someone seems to have suddenly dreamed up a gas shortage it also saves gas to shop here in town where the action is. And while we are about it, may we go along with the many others who endorse Steen's policy of "never on Sunday." The Heers, who have Steen's are the kind of people that make you proud to be in the retail business in the same town. Integrity is the word. They're our kind of people.

Let's kick Woody around the block one more time. That's the idea that seems to permeate the main stem these days. Why? The guy that gets his blood pressure 'way up there on the Rose Bowl bid is the same guy that accepts this contrived energy crisis with a shrug of the shoulders. Coaches are people, and I never knew a coach I didn't like. Why is it the "in thing" to cuss the coach?

writing about this important subject.

I was dumbfounded when I learned from a statistical survey that bicycle accidents were so high on the list. This excellent exercise will continue to be hazardous unless riders are trained in the methods of avoiding accidents.

For example, riding a bike at dusk is particularly dangerous. Automobile drivers are known to have the sharpness of their vision reduced at that time.

In addition, the glare of the lowering sun adds to the danger of bike riding.

More and more bicyclists are wearing a light-reflecting material so that automobile and truck drivers can clearly distinguish them in the dark. I truly believe that lightweight helmets and a face-protecting mask should be as legally necessary as they are for those who ride motorcycles.

Courses in bicycle safety should be given in schools, in preparation for riding at all times of the day, and in all communities.

Saudi Arabian visit scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit King Faisal of Saudi Arabia later this month as part of a five-nation trip through the Middle East, diplomatic sources said today.

Kissinger may add other countries, including Lebanon, to his itinerary. His travel plans will be formally announced within the next few days.

The projected call on Faisal will serve two purposes: to try to enlist the King's aid in spurring other Arab states toward a productive peace conference and to try to relax the oil squeeze by showing that Washington is indeed pushing Israel to the peace table in Geneva Dec. 18.

Savings Bank to become 'Midland Bank'

The Washington Savings Bank will change its name early in 1974 to the Midland Bank of Washington C.H., according to an announcement made today by Richard E. Whiteside, president of the $25 million-asset bank in Fayette County.

The move is part of a statewide name change to Midland Banks for the 12 member banks of Huntington Bancshares, an Ohio-based registered bank holding company.

The corporation also announced its proposed name change to the Huntington Midland Corp.

Huntington Bancshares with $1.3 billion assets is the sixth largest bank holding company in Ohio and the first to adopt a unified name for its member banks. Huntington Bancshares operates 75 offices throughout the state and an off-shore office in the Bahamas.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the unified corporate identification program was made at a meeting of the boards of directors of the affiliated banks. The name change will be proposed to shareholders for ratification the first quarter of 1974.

"Complete corporate unification is essential to our organization's future growth, development and profitability," said Bancshare President Clair E. Fultz.

Total support for the name change of the Washington Savings Bank was expressed by Whiteside.

"We are in enthusiastic agreement with the proposed name change to Midland Bank, as it relates to our own bank and to our customers, and also to the goals of the corporation," Whiteside said.

"The easily identifiable Midland Bank name will extend the marketing impact of the corporation across the state, help us to achieve system-wide efficiencies and enable us to retain our leadership among the Ohio banking community," Whiteside added.

OFFICE SIGNS, marketing programs and other identification will begin to reflect the change to Midland Bank early in 1974 in conjunction with the statewide implementation of the unified identification program.

Affiliated with Huntington Bancshares and effected by the change are the Huntington National Bank, Columbus; the Savings Bank Co., Chillicothe; the Farmers Bank and Trust Co., Ashland; the Bank of Wood County Co., Bowling Green; Lagonda National Bank, Springfield; the Lucas County State Bank, Toledo; First National Bank and Trust Co., Lima; the Woodville State Bank, Woodville; the Portage National Bank, Kent; the First National Bank, Wadsworth; and the First National Bank, Kenton.

Shoplifter fined, jailed

A Washington C.H. woman, arrested Monday afternoon for shoplifting at Buckeye Mart, appeared before Judge Reed M. Winegardner in Municipal Court less than two hours later. Originally charged with grand larceny, she was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail (60 of which were suspended) when the charge was reduced to petty larceny and the defendant entered a plea of guilty.

Esther L. Fredrick, 30, of 715 Eastern Ave., entered the store and took a cart through the aisles where she somewhere produced a number of "Buckeye Mart" shopping bags. After making her selections, she filled the bags in the cart and walked out the door, police said.

Store officials stopped her in the lot a short distance from the exit and held her for officers. The items taken included an electric train set, a pair of shoes, pliers and two gift boxes of tools. Ronald E. Larson, 19, of 418 Fifth St.,

was fined $25 and was given a suspended 10-day jail sentence for disturbing the peace. He had been arrested on a private warrant.

Gregorio M. Redondo, 36, Miami, Fla., and Jorge A. Westover, 30, San Rafael, Costa Rica, were fined $50 each for petty larceny. The two had driven away from Gardner's Truck Stop, U.S. 35 and I-71, without paying for $12 worth of diesel fuel.

New Holland Council eyes gift of land

NEW HOLLAND — A contract for the donation of 12 acres of land was presented to the New Holland Council Monday night. Ora Brdge has offered to present the 12 acres to the village as the site of a proposed sewage plant, and a contract, designating the grounds and the options, was submitted.

Council received the document favorably but will not take any final action until the contract has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration.

Residents of the School Street area again complained that the blacktop covering their sidewalks has not been cleaned up, and a number of citizens have noted that many trees need pruning. Council will investigate both matters.

Discussion continued on possible uses for revenue sharing funds. Expenditures for the Fire Department and the possibility of organizing a village Police Department headed the list of areas considered.

Man being held in marijuana raid

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Anthony Estrada, 23, of suburban Oregon, was being held in lieu of $30,000 on drug possession charges after police raided his home Monday and confiscated 120 pounds of marijuana with a street value of $100,000.

Police Chief James Siddoris said officers also confiscated $100,000 in cash. He said the raid culminated a six-week investigation by the Oregon department.

Hitchhiker held for drug offense

Sheriff's deputies picked up a hitchhiker at the intersection of U.S. 35 and I-71 at 5:35 p.m. Monday and booked him for a drug offense.

Joseph H. Ringer, 21, of Bellaire, was found to have a small amount of marijuana and some pipes on his person. He was charged with possession and is being held in the county jail.

A soft drink machine was found by sheriff's deputies to have been jimmied, but not forced all the way open, at 7:15 p.m., Monday.

The machine, kept in a horse barn on the Fayette County Fairground, is owned by Scioto Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Circleville.

A 24" by 24" glass window was broken out of a garage owned by Harry Pollock, 904 S. Hinde St. The incident occurred at Pollock's property located at 715 Vine Street, police report.

An antenna was bent on a car owned by Lowell W. Smith of 624 Circle Ave. Smith told police his son had parked the car in the 800 block of Willard Street from 5 p.m. til 11 p.m. when the incident occurred.

Sabina annexes two plants

SABINA — A large tract of land, which includes two relatively new industries, was annexed into the village of Sabina during the regular Council meeting Monday night.

Councilmen incorporated the tract of land which includes the Conchemco, Inc., mobile home plant and Sabina Aluminum Co., located on the east edge of the village. The annexation starts at the east edge with the two industries and covers all land west to the Greenfield-Sabina Road.

In other matters, Council approved a request from residents of a new subdivision located just south of Sabina for police protection. Council is anticipating annexing the subdivision into the village corporation limits.

'To be competitive'

City school salaries increased 8 per cent

The Washington C.H. Board of Education Monday night unanimously approved a pay increase of approximately 8 per cent for all employees in the system. The move followed a number of special committee meetings at which the priorities for 1974 were set.

In proposing the motion before the board, member James Wilson noted that the city school system had slipped

Price near 60¢ per gallon?

High gasoline tax pushed by advisors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may soon be asked to authorize a tax increase on gasoline that could increase the price to about 60 cents a gallon.

Administration forces favoring such an increase were working toward that goal in Congress even before a shakeup of President Nixon's energy advisers, sources said.

President Nixon was expected to announce today the creation of a new Federal Energy Administration headed by William E. Simon.

Also today the Senate was scheduled to take up a measure to put the nation on year-round Daylight Saving Time to conserve fuel.

Simon, who will remain as deputy Treasury secretary, has been aligned with those administration advisers arguing that a heavy tax on gasoline is the best way to reduce consumption. On Monday Simon said once he is officially appointed to the new post he would become chairman of the Cabinet-level Energy Emergency Action Group formerly headed by John A. Love.

Love resigned Monday and sources said his deputy, Charles J. DiBona, also submitted his resignation.

Love, who had said that gasoline rationing would be necessary, told the Denver Post he didn't want to remain in a "superfluous job."

"To be honest, it's been difficult to try to do anything meaningful and even to get the attention of the President," the Post quoted Love as saying.

Simon said in an interview that well behind surrounding schools (lowest in the SCOL) in teachers' salaries over the past few years and stated that the increase was necessary to keep the system competitive, and to enable it to continue to offer quality education to the students.

The salary schedule adopted places the beginning salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree at $7,000 per year, an increase of $527. The previous schedule had been adopted in 1972 and was mandatory in order to meet minimums set by the state legislature. It was the lowest in the SCOL and the lowest allowable by law.

The top salary (13 years of experience and a master's degree) goes from $11,132 to $12,038. Only two of 115 employees qualify.

Although some anticipated improvements and some proposed programs will have to be postponed or discarded to release funds for salaries, it was termed the "most pressing need."

SUPERINTENDENT Edwin M. Nestor explained that recent changes in the Teacher Retirement Program at the state level may well entice a number of the system's present teachers to retire at the end of the school year. The board may have to replace as many as 10 per cent of the present teaching staff.

Nestor said that, without the increase, finding quality teachers to fill the vacancies would be an impossible task. Bright young graduates could hardly be expected to come here when similar schools in surrounding areas were paying $1,000 more per year, he said.

DUE TO the vacuum created by monies channelled into the salary increase, other programs must suffer.

Resources for in-service training of present teachers will be very limited. This training is part of the system's effort to constantly keep abreast of new teaching developments and techniques.

Additional material for the elementary schools, especially library books and audio-visual aids, will be limited, and proposed expansion of the elementary and junior high curriculum will have to be postponed.

Staff reductions may still be necessary. Nestor said that some openings may not be filled in order to create additional funds. However, this action must result in more students per classroom.

Carmen Frogale, president of the City Teachers Association, said that the increase, effective immediately, is badly needed and that the board's action demonstrates members' concern for quality education. He termed

Truck drivers stage protests

HEBRON, Ohio (AP) — Truck drivers blockaded interstate highways in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania in an apparently spreading protest of higher fuel prices and reduced speed limits.

The blockages produced monumental traffic jams and two arrests were reported, one in Ohio and the other in West Virginia.

"A truck driver right now is just dirt under peoples' feet," said Walter Barclay of Omaha, Neb., who said he was arrested for obstructing traffic after he led a blockade at an entrance ramp to Interstate 70 east of Wheeling, W. Va.

Another driver, Robert Gallicchio, 25, of Highland Park, N.J., refused to leave the westbound lane of Interstate 70 east of Cambridge, Ohio, and was arrested on a charge of illegal parking.

The protest at Cambridge ended just before 9 a.m., about two hours after it began. Traffic was backed up for about two miles by the 60-odd trucks participating in the demonstration.

The truckers then moved westward to Hebron, Ohio, about 30 miles east of Columbus, where they began another blockade.

The first blockade was reported Monday night at Blakeslee, Pa., near Pittsburgh, on Interstate 80. It produced a five-hour traffic jam that stalled about 1,000 cars before it ended at 3 a.m.

West Virginia police said the protest east of Wheeling developed a little later in the morning, when Barclay jacked up the front of his truck on an entrance ramp. He was taken before a justice of the peace, fined and released, authorities said.

Barclay said later that none of the truckers in the Ohio and West Virginia protests was involved in the Pennsylvania demonstration.

Sheriff's deputies in West Virginia said the caravan finally left the Wheeling area and moved west into Ohio.

The blockade east of Cambridge, about 55 miles west of Wheeling, began about 7 a.m., with four trucks parked abreast, claiming either mechanical problems or lack of fuel.

About 9 a.m., the trucks pulled out again, and continued west about 60 miles, where the protest near a truck stop at Hebron began at midmorning.

The Pennsylvania truckers were summoned to protest by someone using a citizens band radio and calling himself "River Rat."

Newsmen were given a list of demands that included a 65 miles-an-hour speed limit, rather than 55 as proposed by President Nixon, and a limit of 35.9 cents a gallon on diesel fuel.

Barclay said he and other truckers are trying to launch a national protest.

"That's exactly what we're trying to do," he said. "I'd heard it was supposed to happen, just like it was supposed to happen last Friday night. Everything was supposed to shut down on the first of the month."

Judge gets milk fund documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is surrendering secret milk fund documents to a federal judge, including the first tape to be released not directly related to Watergate.

But a Justice Department attorney said U.S. District Judge William B. Jones will be asked to keep the material under wraps on the grounds that it is protected by executive privilege.

The documents and tape could be turned over as early as today, said the department attorney.

The material, demanded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader in a civil suit, bears on the circumstances surrounding the administration's abrupt turnaround decision in 1971 to raise federal milk price supports.

Nader's suit charges that the Nixon administration raised the milk supports in exchange for more than $200,000 in secret contributions from the dairy industry to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

This contention is at odds with Nixon's own statement to The Associated Press Managing Editors last month that "Congress put the gun to our heads" by demanding higher support prices.

Government lawyers said Monday the tape recording, made on the same system that produced the presidential Watergate tapes, is of a meeting between Nixon and top administration officials on March 23, 1971.

This is one day after the dairy industry made the first of many secret contributions to the campaign and two days before the administration reversed a 13-day-old decision not to increase the federal support price for milk.

Nader's lawyers contend the meeting was crucial to that change in policy. The tape might show just what factors led to the policy change which, by industry estimates, was worth $300 million to $700 million to America's dairy farmers.

The judge is expected to listen to the tape and examine the other material in his chambers before ruling on the claim of executive privilege. Should he

Warm weather apparently has been more of a factor in reducing natural gas and oil consumption in Ohio than pleas for conservation, utility company spokesmen said Monday.

A check of gas and electric utilities across the state show consumption apparently is dropping.

But unseasonably warm weather through November probably has caused the drop, the utilities said. The spokesmen said it wasn't possible to tell if the President's Nov. 8 speech urging energy conservation had a major effect.

"It's not indicative of a trend" said David Altemuehle of Cincinnati Gas

Fierce Viet fighting explodes

SAIGON (AP) — Large North Vietnamese forces spearheaded by tanks and heavy artillery launched a dozen attacks across a wide area of the lower central highlands today. They captured parts of a district town and threatened a provincial capital, field reports said.

Government military spokesmen said that the attacks triggered major fighting and possibly were the prelude to a general offensive South Vietnamese officials have been forecasting for early next year.

Military sources said the North Vietnamese launched 11 separate attacks along a 28-mile front from Dak Song southward to the district town of Kien Duc near the Cambodian border and 90 miles northeast of Saigon.

Government spokesmen claimed a half dozen tanks were destroyed.

First reports said 45 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in the fighting, but there was no report available on the government losses.

Hand-to-hand fighting was reported in Kien Duc, a town of 3,000 population, and field reports said North Vietnamese sappers had seized the national police headquarters in Kien Duc and two other points in the town, which was in danger of falling.

The field reports said that 1,000 civilians, some of them refugees from earlier fighting in the region, had fled from Kien Duc eastward through the jungles to Gia Nghia, 12 miles away.

The strategic Highway 14 between Kien Duc and Gia Nghia was reported open but "dangerous."

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, Saigon's chief military spokesman, said it was the first time the Communists have attacked a district capital since the ceasefire on Jan. 28.

Watergate tapes heard by Sirica

WASHINGTON (AP) — After spending a day listening to Watergate tapes, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica hears White House officials tell how they handled the secret recordings.

Lawrence Higby, a member of the White House staff, was expected to take the witness stand today when testimony resumed in the hearing into what might have caused a hum that obliterated conversation on an 18-minute segment of one tape.

As an aide to then White House chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, Higby was closely involved in the 1971 installation of the secret recording system.

Expected to follow Higby to the stand were Gen. John Bennett of the White House staff, and Samuel Powers, a Miami, Fla., attorney, employed by the White House as a consultant for the tapes cases. It was understood that Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., Haldeman's successor on the President's staff, would testify Wednesday.

reject that claim, the White House could appeal the ruling.

Sources said that some 68 documents are being turned over to the judge.

The White House last summer refused to surrender the documents when they were subpoenaed. Justice Department attorney Irwin Goldblum said the government has "re-examined its position" and has decided to permit the judge to inspect the evidence in private to decide whether it should be used in the case.

Additionally, nearly 30 documents are being turned over to the plaintiffs in the case with no claim of executive privilege.

Electric utilities, with ample supplies of coal to run their generators, aren't encouraging their customers to cut back. They say they want to promote use of electricity, however.

March of Dimes drive features Fayette boy

A 7-year-old Fayette County boy has been named the 1974 March of Dimes Poster Child for the Ohio Chapter of the National March of Dimes Foundation.

Tracy Anders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Anders, Rt. 1, Greenfield (Ohio 753-S), will be this year's honoree, according to Thomas E. Mullin, chairman of the annual January March of Dimes campaign.

Tracy was born with missing limbs and has been receiving treatment at Children's Hospital, Columbus, with a March of Dimes grant. He is a second grader at Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope.

This year, Tracy will help represent some quarter million children who are born with birth defects annually in the United States. Approximately 11,900 such children come from Ohio, Mullins said.

"We ask you to help us fight birth defects, such as the one which affects our poster child," Mullin said. "The March of Dimes supports research, medical services, professional education and community service programs all aimed at the ultimate goal of a healthy birthright for every child," Mullins commented.

Tracy's grandparents are Mrs. John Prenat, 508 Third St., Delbert Anders, of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Coulter, Washington-Waterloo Rd.

Station owner fights closing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Gasoline dealer Stan Brown says he's a law-abiding citizen who believes in President Nixon. But he says he'll continue to sell gas on Sunday "until somebody closes me down."

The Cincinnati man said Monday "I'm all for closing on Sunday—but if I have to close down my business why doesn't everyone else?"

Brown kept his expressway station open Sunday and reported business was brisk.

"I ran out of regular," he said. "I must have had 200 phone calls from people asking if I was open...and everybody said 'I hope you don't close down,'" said Brown.

He said he respects the President's appeal but feels more stringent steps are needed to curb unnecessary driving.

"I don't think I should have to shut my doors when the giant shopping centers stay open. This might be the start to saving gas, but closing everyone down would make more sense."

The gas pinch is hitting station owners at a critical time, he said.

"It's the end of the year and December is a big month for me. Last month I was allotted 41,000 gallons because that's what I pumped a year ago."

"This month I've got 77,000. I'm just a small businessman and I've got to make the dollar when I can. I don't want to break any laws but I can't see giving my business away when the rest of the stations are staying open."

Brown noted an upswing in motorists asking for gas in extra containers.

"Some people are bringing in cans of every size and taking gas home. My sister works at a big chain store and she said they can't keep cans on the shelves."

"I think some people are starting to hoard it," he said.

State, national electrical energy use declines

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer

Warm weather apparently has been more of a factor in reducing natural gas and oil consumption in Ohio than pleas for conservation, utility company spokesmen said Monday.

A check of gas and electric utilities across the state show consumption apparently is dropping.

But unseasonably warm weather through November probably has caused the drop, the utilities said. The spokesmen said it wasn't possible to tell if the President's Nov. 8 speech urging energy conservation had a major effect.

"It's not indicative of a trend" said David Altemuehle of Cincinnati Gas

Dayton and Cincinnati in electrical usage. Columbus and Akron said they expected slight increases, but attributed them to increased numbers of customers.

Robert Jones of Columbus and Southern Electric said his firm's figures were thrown off by a freeze imposed last year on new natural gas connections. The ban brought new, unexpected customers to the electric utility and prevents valid evaluations of whether consumers are trying to conserve, he said.

Both Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. and East Ohio Gas Co. reported declining consumption of natural gas. East Ohio attributed the drop to warmer weather, but Columbia said it thought its conservation campaign was taking effect.

"With just spot checks, we have a feeling our customers are cooperating," said Bill Chaddock of Columbia Gas.

"We have nothing to back it up," however, he said. "Our figures don't show anything right now, the difference is so minute it doesn't make any sense to talk about it."

A spokesman for Consolidated Edison in New York City said that for the weeks ended Nov. 4 and Nov. 11, electricity consumption was higher than during the same period in 1972. The next two weeks showed a decline.

Ford lays off work force

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. today laid off 22,033 hourly employees at 17 U.S. plants, most of them involved in the production of large Ford and Mercury cars.

Ford plants in Sandusky and Lima will be affected, with 170 layoffs scheduled for Sandusky and some 350 at Lima. The layoffs are to be for an indefinite period. The General Products Division plant is situated at Sandusky, and the Ford engine plant at Lima.

A Ford spokesman said the layoffs were directly attributed to a 10-day strike against Ford-Canada which has cut off the flow of engines from the Windsor, Ont., engine plant.

Production of some light trucks and a smattering of other models also was affected, he said.

Ford said the workers would not be brought back to the plants until Canadian parts were provided.

The spokesman said this would take a week to 10 days after Canadian workers ratify their new agreement. He would not speculate whether work could resume at the U.S. facilities before the regular, week-long Christmas holiday. The Canadian pact was reached in Toronto today, and operations were expected to resume at Canadian plants on Friday or Monday. The United Auto Workers concluded a separate contract with Ford last month for its U.S. workers.

Ford laid off some 2,500 workers last week, citing parts shortages.

Today's layoffs brought to nearly 200,000 the number of auto workers affected by industry layoffs in December and January. Most of the cutbacks were scheduled to be brief and are designed to reduce large car output and retool some plants to turn out small cars.

West Virginia escapees said near Columbus

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Police this morning found a 23-year-old coal miner unharmed and tied to a tree on the east side of Columbus, Ohio, just hours after two escapees from the West Virginia Penitentiary took him hostage.

Ernest George, 23, of Moundsville was forced to drive to Ohio by two men who escaped at 9:00 p.m. from the century-old maximum security prison, authorities said. He was later tied to a tree and left unharmed.

The escapees were identified as Paul Chaffin, 39, of Huntington, and John Browning, 26, of Logan. Chaffin was serving a 5-to-15 year term for second degree murder, while Browning was serving a life sentence for armed robbery.

Threatening a guard with a knife, the two inmates made their way out of the prison, where they picked up their hostage and fled, police said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-day battle between Senate advocates of public financing of federal election campaigns and the White House has ended in defeat for the senators.

U. N. chief pushes Wednesday talks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt's leading newspaper says that the United Nations commander in the Middle East has proposed a resumption of Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire talks on Wednesday.

The semi-official Cairo paper Al-Ahram said today that Finnish Lt. Gen. Ensis Siilasvuo made his suggestion in a conference with Israeli military leaders in Jerusalem on Sunday. He met before the Israeli talks with Egyptian military men in Cairo and has since returned to Egypt.

Quoting a U.N. spokesman in Cairo, the paper said Siilasvuo also called on the Israelis to introduce positive proposals pertaining to a withdrawal of Israeli forces to the positions they held at the time of the first cease-fire, on Oct. 22. Egypt broke off the talks last Thursday, claiming the Israelis were stalling.

Al-Ahram said Siilasvuo told the Israelis that U.N. troops would be deployed in a "defined area" between the Egyptian and Israeli troops.

Hamilton County park rangers see nasty winter in Midwest

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton County's park rangers report from their observations that the Midwest is in for a severe winter.

The long-range forecast belies that of the mild forecast made by the National Weather Service.

"Natural signs observed in the field point to a nasty winter," said the Hamilton County Park District's newsletter for December.

The newsletter declared: "Butterflies began flocking early and migrating early."

"There are a lot of spiders, black bugs and worms crawling about."

"Blackberry blooms were especially heavy."

"Squirrels are building nests low in trees."

"We had foggy days in September."

"Hickory nuts have a heavy shell."

"Tree bark is heaviest on the north side."

"Katydids were hollerin' early."

"Hornets and yellow jackets' nests are close to the ground."

"Muskrat lodges are large."

"Birds ate up all the wild berries early."

"Squirrels and rabbits have heavy fur."

"Ant hills are high."

Energy crisis

however, both from the previous weeks and from the 1972 figures.

Con Ed spokesmen were reluctant to give a reason for the decline, citing weather, population growth and other variables that would affect the amount of electricity used.

Milton Musicus, chairman of the Mayor's Emergency Energy Committee, said, however: "We must have turned the tide. We're not only cutting growth, but are making inroads into actual usage."

Pacific Gas & Electric in San Francisco said that for the week ended Nov. 24, consumption was up 2.6 per cent over the figure a year ago, but was 10.4 per cent below what had been predicted.

Bill Conley of the New England Power Exchange, whose 44 member companies account for 95 per cent of all the electricity generated in New England, said usage was estimated at four or five per cent below the forecast previously made for November.

"We believe that the decrease — or a good portion of it — is due to conservation measures," he said.

The Edison Electric Institute, which compiles nationwide statistics, confirmed that electricity usage declined during November, particularly near the end of the month. But the institute warned that its figures did not take into account variables like the weather and therefore said it could not draw any conclusions from the figures.

Some utilities tried to take into account the weather when making their computations. Public Service Electric & Gas, New Jersey's largest electrical utility, said that for the week ended Nov. 24, consumption was 509.7 million kilowatt hours, a decline of five per cent over the same period in 1972.

A company spokesman said the average temperature for Nov. 2-25 was 48.3 degrees this year compared with 44.9 degrees last year.

Commonwealth Edison Co., which supplies Chicago and much of northern Illinois, said consumption was down, but temperatures were up. "It could be a combination of weather and conservation or just weather," a spokesman said. "We just don't know."

Claude Dickens of the Kansas City Board of Public Utilities said there was a decrease of 5.8 per cent in electricity usage from October to November this year. He said it was too early to say whether a trend was developing, but added: "There is some decrease in usage that can be attributed to customer action."

Egyptian spokesman Ahmed Anis said Monday that indirect contacts were under way between Cairo and Tel Aviv to get the talks restarted. He implied that failure could jeopardize the Middle East peace talks planned for Geneva in mid-December, saying: "We cannot define our stand regarding the peace talks before the outcome of these contacts is known."

In Washington, State Department spokesman George S. Vest said the department hopes and expects "that the talks at Kilometer 101 will start later this week, and ... that these will lead to a conference." His optimism apparently resulted from the meeting Sunday between the U.S. Ambassador to Egypt, Hermann F. Eilts, and President Anwar Sadat.

Israeli and Syrian tanks and artillery duelled across the Golan Heights Monday for the second day in succession. Israel said four of its soldiers were wounded; Syria claimed 15 Israelis were wounded or killed.

The observations were made at the county's four large parks and rangers said the results, taken over the years, are indicative of a bad winter.

If the previous warnings are not convincing enough, the Park District News said, "the woolly bear caterpillar is the clincher."

"There are a lot of them; they have a thick coat, and they started creeping and crawling before the first frost."

"They have more black than brown."

the move "a step in the right direction."

Ballooning costs of a college education recently have dampened the young teachers' perspective, it was pointed out. With college costs rising an average of approximately $3,000 per year and high interest rates, a high school graduate considering a teaching career cannot be highly encouraged.

If he borrows $12,000 at 8 per cent interest to attend college and then repays it over an 11-year period working in the Washington C.H. school system, he will have only $2,000 more at the end of 15 years than a graduate who began making $5,000 per year immediately after high school. This is based on the "new salary" schedule with its yearly increments and assuming that his non-college counterpart never gets a raise.

IN OTHER matters the board approved the creation of an interscholastic basketball program for girls at Washington Senior High School. Mrs. Edward Eyre, girls' physical education teacher at the school, will be the coach. The teams will play a seven-game schedule beginning in January.

The board authorized the superintendent to enter into a contract with McClain High School, Greenfield, to rent the Senior High gymnasium for six basketball games during December, January and February. The first of these will be Saturday, Dec. 8.

The McClain gymnasium is under construction at the present time, and legal disputes are likely to cause delays in its completion.

Pioneer 10 hurled toward deep space

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — Pioneer 10 has sailed safely through Jupiter's radiation belts and is still transmitting important data as it heads for the Milky Way.

Jubilant scientists have begun to study data that charted the shape and nature of the giant planet's magnetic field, measured the magnitude of violent radiation belts and promised to reveal delicate details of the turbulent Jovian atmosphere.

"I'm elated. What else can I say," said Charles Hall, Pioneer project manager, after the unmanned 570-pound spacecraft — nearly destroyed by violent radiation storms — swept within 81,000 miles of Jupiter's colorful cloud tufts Monday night.

Hurled onward by Jupiter's gravity, 2.6 times greater than earth's, Pioneer began a voyage which departs the solar system in 1987 and subsequently enters the Milky Way.

In case it might be encountered some day by intelligent life, the spacecraft carries a symbol-covered plaque that tells from where it came.

Project scientists estimated Monday night that Pioneer's radio might continue to send data for five years, out to a distance of two billion miles from earth near the orbit of the planet Uranus.

The intensity of electron and proton radiation trapped in belts around Jupiter grew steadily Monday as the space probe plunged toward the planet. Scientists monitoring the rising radiation feared the spacecraft might be damaged or silenced completely.

Then about an hour before Pioneer swept on past Jupiter, at 82,000 miles per hour, radiation intensity began declining. The worst was past. After worrying during the spacecraft's 21-month trip that it might never send back crucial data, the experts relaxed.

Assessing radiation afterward, Hall said Pioneer was only a few minutes away from sustaining major damage.

Stock list still slides

NEW YORK (AP) — After a brief but unenthusiastic morning rally, the stock market resumed its downward drift today as fears of a recession next year continued.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.89 at 801.63, giving up an earlier spurt that placed the index over 2 points up. Declines outpaced advances 7 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange in active trading.

With little positive news to pull the market higher, brokers continue to attribute the selling to the combined pressures of energy shortages and higher interest rates.

General Motors, already battered by recent selling, sank another 1 1/4 to 46 1/2, topping Big Board volume, followed by Fannie Mae, unchanged at 19 1/2, and Sterling Drug, off 1/4 at 27 1/2. The NYSE broad-based index dropped .34 to 49.74.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slumped .52 to 90.77 as Cutter Labs A, up 1/8 at 17 1/2, led trading. Loews Theater advanced 3/4 to 11 1/2, while Research Cottrell fell 1 1/4 to 48.

Weather conditions in Ohio are expected to remain mild today—but on the wet side, according to the National Weather Service. Thundershowers are also possible beginning over the western portion of the state Tuesday afternoon and working their way over eastern Ohio Tuesday night.

A cold front is swinging around the low center now in Missouri and should move more rapidly eastward than the low itself. By Wednesday morning it could possibly move to just east of Ohio.

At 6 a.m. Tuesday, temperatures ranged from 48 degrees near Parkersburg, W. Va., on the Ohio River, 50 degrees at Dayton, Findlay and Zanesville and up to 54 degrees in the Akron-Canton area.

From 7 p.m. Monday until 1 a.m. Tuesday only traces of rain were noted in Ohio at Findlay and Dayton, but since that time more showers have shown up on radar.

Solons given advance look at Nixon financial papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has given selected Republican leaders an advance glimpse at a thick stack of personal financial reports he plans to release publicly this week.

The unannounced White House meeting Monday came as unofficial calculations indicated Nixon apparently was entitled to sizeable refunds in the last three years because of over-withholding of federal taxes from his salary.

The President opened the meeting with Vice President designate Gerald R. Ford, GOP Chairman George Bush and seven Republican congressional leaders, by giving a 20-minute preview of his personal finances.

Then his aides and lawyers presented a 90-minute briefing on the series of statements and documents intended to refute allegations about presidential finances.

White House spokesmen would give no details, saying it was a private meeting, but Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, one of those attending, said the lawyers gave an extensive presentation of Nixon's financial situation while President.

"I am not an accountant, but they seem to have all the facts and figures in hand," Anderson said. He added that the attorneys defended Nixon's $500,000

Farm-related shortages eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department hopes to begin soon a series of comprehensive weekly reports showing highlights of the fuel shortage as it relates to farmers.

Currently, the department's main custodian of fuel surveys is the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), which also administers crop programs.

A spokesman said Monday, however, that other agencies also may be asked to contribute data, which then can be used to show an over-all view of the energy crunch on farmers.

In a report made public Monday, the and diesel fuel supplies were "tight to critical" in many states where field work was still under way. Officials said scattered cases were reported from California, Texas, Nebraska, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, South Carolina and Maine.

Some farmers also reported they had used all their fuel allocations for 1973 by November, the report said. Those reports came from Illinois, Nebraska, South Carolina and Maryland.

The report said the administration's mandatory allocation program for diesel and other middle-distillate fuels, which began Nov. 1, "continues to cause confusion among suppliers" and has resulted in delayed or reduced deliveries to farmers.

Officials noted that the Office of Petroleum Allocation recently issued advisory notices to the oil industry in an effort to improve the situation.

"However, these notices seem to filter slowly through the petroleum industry, and distributors of farm fuels often hesitate to provide additional fuel to farmers until they receive instructions through company channels," the report said.

The snarls in getting adequate fuels to farmers this fall has prompted some members of Congress to call for more priority for agricultural energy.

Property damage crashes reported

An accident which did moderate damage to two cars occurred at the Market-North street intersection at 7:09 a.m., Tuesday, police reported.

A car driven by John Robert Lutz, 46, of 523 Temple St., collided with one driven by Timothy L. Frederick, 19, of 234 North Bend Court.

The drivers were uninjured. Police brought a charge of backing without safety against Omar A. Morris, 57, of Mount Sterling, after Morris backed his car from its street parking space into a car driven by Mary J. Burris, 17, of 717 Clinton Ave.

The accident occurred on Western Avenue.

The Sheriff's Department reported an accident in which a Washington C.H. man ran off U.S. 62, hitting a fence owned by Ray Jinks of Rt. 2, and a highway sign.

The mishap occurred at 5:35 p.m. Monday. Carl Gray, 24, E. Market St., was unhurt.

An accident at the Mount Olive-Palmer Road intersection at 1:30 a.m., Sunday, was reported by sheriff's deputies. Jimmy D. Chrisman was unable to stop for the traffic sign at the junction and left the north side of Palmer Road hitting a fence owned by M.W. Libby of U.S. 35-NW.

The auto was moderately damaged. A mishap which occurred on the Kroger parking lot Saturday was incorrectly reported in Monday's Record-Herald. Edsel L. Kinzer, 51, of 1101 Campbell St., backed into a car driven by Alice F. Wills, 35, of Rt. 3, Washington C.H.

Deputy state treasurer is club speaker

An explanation of functions of the state treasurer's office was given to members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club following their dinner meeting Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

Wayne A. Maloon, deputy state treasurer since 1971, explained to Kiwanians that the 135 employees of the state treasurer's office are hired by the treasurer and usually are employed only during the treasurer's term or terms of office.

Maloon, a native of Darke County, said the employees have no civil service protection and that the philosophy behind this thinking is that the treasurer should be free to hire those people he feels he can trust.

He said one million warrants are processed each month through the data processing division of the treasurer's office. The office is the custodian of all state retirement systems which means it oversees a $7 billion investment. Each day, Maloon said, there is a cash flow of $30 million through the office.

MALOON, a member of the Greenville Kiwanis Club, said the state treasurer's office also serves as a research center for legislators, the governor's office and other public offices as well as local governments in all 88 counties.

Maloon answered questions concerning state indebtedness and the state lottery, which is due to become operational early next summer.

The program was arranged by Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner, and Maloon was introduced by Gary Smith, a Washington C.H. attorney.

President George Gibbs, who conducted the business meeting, reminded members to bring their Christmas gifts for nursing home shut-ins, and to make plans for the annual Christmas party which will be held Dec. 17 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Lancione eyes Senate vacancy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, would accept an interim appointment to the U.S. Senate if offered him by Gov. John G. Gilligan, he said Monday.

But the speaker pointed out that Gilligan will have no appointment to make unless Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, is confirmed as the president's nominee for U.S. attorney general.

The governor's office remained non-committal about a possible vacancy. Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary, said "about 70 names have been recommended to us, and our policy had been not to comment on names. We will continue that policy in this case."

The key: Belt-tightening

In his address on the energy crisis President Nixon acknowledged that it was severe, suggested that it could be dealt with if everyone would cooperate in some belt-tightening, and announced that what he calls "Project Independence - 1980" would assure a return to energy abundance. Each of these points made by the President warrants some comment.

Both Congress and the administration are vulnerable to the criticism that they were slow to grasp the dimensions of the energy problem that confronts the nation, and slow to respond. That stage has now passed: both branches now clearly recognize the severity of the problem. Mr. Nixon underscored this, noting that we face "a major crisis" and that this "is now being felt around the world."

He then went on to say that the pinch is far worse in other industrial nations than it is in the United States, since our country "is not as dependent on Middle Eastern oil as many other nations." This may be true in the short run, but a vital element was missing from the President's assessment. The salient fact is that, with energy consumption steadily on the rise and potential oil supplies dwindling, the nation is in for long-range trouble.

Seen in this light, President Nixon's appraisal of what might be done through Project Independence - 1980 sounds over-optimistic. "Achieving and maintaining self-sufficiency in energy" sounds fine. A look at the prospects - for more domestic oil, for exploitation of shale oil, for high-temperature reduction of coal to provide oil - suggests that supplies will not keep pace with the demands of a growing population which has been profligate with energy.

"As we look to the future," said the President, "we can do so confident that the energy crisis will be resolved, not only for our time, but for all time. We will once again have those plentiful supplies of inexpensive energy which helped to build the greatest industrial nation . . . in the world."

One's impulse is to say amen to that. One is attracted to the idea - and there is much in the American record to support it - that somehow ways will be found to supply all the energy the nation requires. But as Robert Entwistle reminds us in the Sierra Club Bulletin, "... the average American uses more energy in a week than a man living 150 years ago used in a lifetime."

The answer lies not in boundless energy, but in conservation. Belt tightening may get us through the present crisis, but there is more to the matter than that. Belt tightening, by which we mean more prudent use of whatever energy is available, must become a way of life for the indeterminate future.

State tax returns to be mailed

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After Christmas, state workers plan to rush to the post office with four million individual income tax returns.

If they're late, it could cost Ohio and eventually the taxpayers $300,000.

The Ohio Department of Taxation wants to mail the returns after Christmas but before higher postage rates take effect on Jan. 1.

"We don't want to mail the returns during the Christmas rush because they will probably get lost," said Stan Spaulding, department spokesman. "So the returns will be mailed in the days after Christmas."

Spaulding added, "They will be out before Jan. 1. We want to make the deadline."

The cost of mailing the 16-page booklets will be $640,000, the same as in 1972, he said. If the deadline is not met, he said, the cost would go up $300,000.

He said the entire postage fee must be paid when the forms are taken to the post office.

The U.S. Postal Service plans to charge two cents more an ounce for bulk mailings after the first of the year.

Spaulding said the income tax form has been changed from last year's publication. He said it matches the federal return and makes handling the state copy easier.

Last year, taxpayers received an envelope containing a small instruction booklet, forms and a return envelope. This year, Ohioans can expect only a booklet with a return envelope inside.

The booklet, printed by National Graphics Corp. at a cost of $260,000, will contain instructions, two copies each of the short form and the long form and all the necessary tax tables.

Spaulding said changes have been in the booklet's instructions to make them easier for the reader. He said many valid suggestions were made by taxpayers.

The 8½-by-11-inch booklet has been printed with blue lettering and with some red to emphasize directions. The front-page of the booklet will carry an address label, which can be peeled off and affixed to the return envelope.

The deadline for the returns is April 15, same as the federal income tax.

School stove said stolen

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—They had to close the two-room Amish school at West Farmington because someone stole a stove.

Trumbull County sheriff's deputies said someone broke into the building Friday night and took one of two stoves. The remaining stove would not heat the entire building, so classes were canceled Monday for the 42 pupils.

School officials said the stove should have had fire in it when it was taken, but sheriff's deputies said the trail was cold by the time they were called.

Eli Detweiler, clerk of the Bundsburg Amish school board said it will cost $150 to replace the stove—if a replacement can be found.

Because of the energy crisis, there has been a run on wood and coal stoves in this area. Dealers say they have been sold out for six weeks.

Dennison resigns from FTC position

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of David S. Dennison as a member of the Federal Trade Commission, effective Dec. 31, was accepted Monday by President Nixon.

Dennison, 55, a former House member from Ohio, plans to return to a private law practice. He has served on the FTC since 1970.

Dear Abby:

One good look won't break up the family

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 47 and I'm 45. Five years ago he had an affair with a young woman who works at the factory where he works. It's all over now and I have forgiven him, but another problem has come up. I have a 24-year-old daughter who started working at the factory where her father and this old flame of his are still working.

Different people who work there have told me that my daughter has been going around asking people if they know in which department her father's old girl friend works so she can get a look at her. She told her foreman she just wanted to see if she could see what her father saw in that lady that made him flip his lid and hurt me so much.

What can I do about this? I don't want my daughter to see this woman. Worrying about it has made me a nervous wreck.

NIGHTMARES IN R.I.
DEAR NIGHTMARES: You can't stop your daughter from trying to satisfy her curiosity. So what if she does see this woman? The affair is over, so put it out of your mind and don't make a federal case out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl with a BIG problem. My nose. Both my parents have noses like you wouldn't believe, so it's no wonder.

I have no brother or sisters. I joke about it, saying, "after my parents saw me they decided not to have any more." (It's probably true.)

I have friends, but I've never had a date. I'm always clowning around, laughing at myself, but inside, my heart is breaking because I feel so ugly with this nose.

I've begged my parents to give me a nose job but my father says it's too expensive, and my mother says if people don't like me for myself they are false friends.

I'm a good student but I want to quit school and get a job so I can start saving for a nose job. I need it NOW, not 10 years from now. Do you know of any plastic surgeon who will do my nose now and let me pay him later? I'll sit with his kids, I'll scrub his floors at home or at his office. I'll do anything, Abby, if he'll fix my nose and let me pay him on time. Please?

"SCHNOZ"
DEAR SCHNOZ: Send me your name and address and I'll do a little nosing around for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am glad that airlines are now separating smokers from nonsmokers, but can't something be done to help office workers who don't smoke, yet are obligated to spend eight hours a day, five days a week in closed offices with workers who smoke all day long?

Nonsmokers are made miserable by the thoughtlessness of our fellow workers, not to mention the harm done to our hearts and lungs by forced breathing of others' smoke for hours. Many don't dare complain because the boss and his secretary both smoke, and they, with other smokers, would be furious if we protested.

We need our jobs, many being too near retirement to think of seeking employment elsewhere. Can't the Environmental Protection Agency set standards for offices in this country?

What IS the answer for this category of long-suffering nonsmokers?

SICK FROM SMOKE IN N. Mex.
DEAR SICK: I wish I knew. You can't legislate consideration for others. Most cigaret smokers are aware that they offend nonsmokers, but are either too hooked to refrain or too selfish to care. I just wish they would voluntarily go somewhere else to indulge their habits.

Saxbe bill must face conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—A measure cutting the pay of the attorney general so that Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, can take the job was approved Monday by the House.

Similar legislation has already been passed by the Senate, but it will not yet go to President Nixon because unrelated House amendments have to be considered by the Senate.

The action is necessary because the Constitution forbids a member of Congress from taking a post for which the salary was increased during his term.

The pay for attorney general was raised from $35,000 to $60,000 in 1969, while Saxbe was in the Senate, and thus is being cut back to $35,000 to make Saxbe eligible for the job.

He was selected for the post by President Nixon after Elliot L. Richardson resigned over the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Opponents have argued that the bill will not overcome the constitutional ban, however, and the measure provides for a speedy court test.

House amendments tightening regulations on mail sent by members of Congress under their free mailing privileges now go to the Senate for consideration.

"Why should some citizens be forced to drive five or six hours to conduct business with a state agency when that agency could be within a three-hour drive of nearly all Ohio citizens?" asked Sen. Donald L. Woodland, D-16 Columbus.

Historic inn given citation

LONDON (AP) — The King's Head, at Orford in Suffolk, an inn with only four bedrooms — but seven centuries of history — has won one of the first awards given by the British Tourist Authority.

It is among 98 British pubs commended by the authority for their food, accommodations, service and friendliness.

In the 18th century the King's Head was a receiving depot for smugglers, with mine host acting as the middleman.

Money Does Matter . . .

By Robert E. English

IT'S "KNOW-HOW" THAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE — ESPECIALLY WITH MONEY

Really, it isn't easy to do the right thing with money.

Some people never have enough of it, others never make the best use of it.

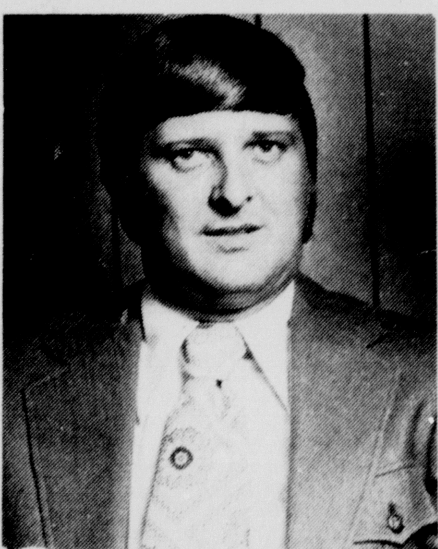

Why? They just don't handle money well.

It is a hard task, using money wisely. But, it can be done.

Those who know something about money are in a position to handle it better.

Most of us work very hard for our money. We should work just as hard to use it in the right way. We'll live better, if we do.

One important thought: Do not hesitate to ask for and consider carefully the advice and counsel your banker is ready to provide without cost. He does want to help.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Bidwell on celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary Thursday, November 29, 1973.

Also to Debbie Duff, a Miami Trace High School graduate, who was awarded a National scholarship for outstanding achievement in the 4-H Home Environment program.

We are concerned about your concerns, especially when it comes to money matters.

At The First National Bank of Washington Court House we've learned a few things we'll be happy to pass along to you — helping you live better!

This holiday eggnog is colorful

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For Christmas or New Year entertaining, you may be interested in a new recipe for a spirited fruit-flavored eggnog. This nog is different from the usual variety: it is an attractive pink color and it's so thick that it is served with spoons.

Should any of the eggnog be left over, stir it up vigorously (there's a little separation as it stands) and turn it into an ice-cube tray; freeze. The frozen nog is delightful and useful to have on hand for a extra holiday dessert.

HOLIDAY EGGNOG

6 eggs, separated
1/2 cup superfine sugar
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Hawaiian punch, thawed
1/2 cup bourbon
3 cups heavy cream, whipped
Ground or whole nutmeg

In a small mixing bowl beat egg yolks until fluffy; gradually beat in 1/4 cup of the sugar until thickened and lemon color. Gradually stir in the punch, keeping smooth. Gradually stir in bourbon and brandy. Transfer to a large chilled serving bowl. Fold in whipped cream. Refrigerate.

Meanwhile in a clean medium mixing bowl with a clean beater, beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in the remaining 1/4 cup sugar and continue beating until stiff; fold into egg yolk mixture. Chill at least 1 hour.

The cost of bread is not cost of wheat

DES MOINES (AP) — The editor of one of the nation's leading farm publications says that wheat prices shouldn't be blamed for the rising price of bread.

Al Bull, writing in Wallace's Farmer, says, "Wheat in a loaf of bread usually is less than one pound. So even $5 wheat, which no miller has had to pay yet, amounts to only eight cents per loaf."

"That's still a small part of the total price, so don't buy wheat price as the real reason for increases in price of bread," he says.

British dalia show goes to metric measure

LONDON (AP) — Britain's slow progress toward conversion to the metric system took one more step with the announcement that dahlias are "going metric."

Following the decision of the National Dahlia Society that flowers exhibited at its shows must now conform to metric measurements, special sizing rings are being issued for use by judges.

New limits for blooms are: large 260 millimeters, medium 220 mm, small 170 mm, miniature 115 mm and pom-poms 50 mm.

All-Ohio AAA grid team selected

ASSOCIATED PRESS ALL-AMERICA OFFENSE — These are the players named for the first team of the 1973 Associated Press All-America football offensive unit.

Woodrow, Mossbarger mentioned in voting

Two Miami Trace football stars were named to the Associated Press All-Ohio Class AAA team, which was released today.

John Woodrow and Jay Mossbarger, who landed first team berths on the All-Southeastern Ohio District Class AAA football team, were named on the All-Ohio honorable mention list.

Woodrow, a 6-foot-5, 260-pound senior, landed All-South Central Ohio League honors this season after being an honorable mention pick a year ago. Woodrow had 25 individual tackles and 27 tackles behind the line of scrimmage this season. He also blocked three passes and caused four fumbles.

Besides being one of Miami Trace's defensive stalwarts, Mossbarger was an offensive mainspring. The 6-foot-0, 180-pound junior, who won an All-SCOL first team berth at tight end, grabbed 23 passes for 252 yards and an average of 11.0. He scored 40 points and led the SCOL in receptions, scoring the total offense for a tight end.

Woodrow was a first team defensive tackle on the All-District team and Mossbarger was the first team defensive end.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ted Bell of Youngstown Mooney and Stan Johnson of Sandusky are The Associated Press Ohio Class AAA high school football Players of the Year.

The two, highly sought by major colleges across the nation, lead The AP's 1973 allstate selections, picked on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Coach of the Year honors went to Don Bucci of Youngstown Mooney, whose team won all but one game and won the Ohio Class AAA playoff title.

Bucci barely edged Joe Novak of poll champion Warren Western Reserve, Jerry Faust of Cincinnati Moeller and Stu Stearns of Bowling Green.

Bell, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound speedster, rushed for more than 4,000 yards in his career and is considered the finest back ever in the Youngstown area.

Bell played both ways for the playoff champions as a halfback. He piled up more than 2,000 grounds yards this year, including one game of 360 yards against Austintown Fitch.

Sandusky officials consider the 6-4, 250-pound Johnson as the best player ever for that school although he plays the unheralded defensive position of middle guard.

College All-American's culled

NEW YORK (AP) — The first freshman in 29 years — tailback Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh — and three repeaters — Randy Gradishar and John Hicks of Ohio State and Richard Wood of Southern California — have been named to The Associated Press All-America college football team for 1973.

The 5-foot-11, 175-pound Dorsett finished as the nation's second leading rusher with 1,586 yards in 11 games as Pitt posted its first winning record in 10 years and first bowl bid since 1956.

The last freshman to win first-team honors was fullback Doc Blanchard of Army in 1944. Blanchard was an All-American three times but graduated from West Point in three years under an accelerated war-time course of study and was not on hand to play as a senior.

Joining Dorsett in the backfield are fullback Roosevelt Leaks of Texas and tailback John Cappelletti of Penn State, who finished fourth and fifth in the national rushing statistics, and quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas, who set six Big Eight Conference passing records.

The AP All-America team will appear on the Bob Hope Special on NBC-TV Dec. 9 at 9 p.m., EST.

Besides the backs and offensive tackle Hicks, the offensive team consists of wide receiver Lynn Swann of Southern California, tight end Andre Tillman of Texas Tech, tackle Buddy Brown of Alabama, guards Tyler Lafauci of Louisiana State and Bill Yoest of North Carolina State and center Bill Wyman of Texas.

Joining linebackers Gradishar and Wood on the defensive team are ends Pat Donovan of Stanford and Randy White of Maryland, tackles John Dutton of Nebraska and Dave Gallagher of Michigan, middle guard Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, linebacker Rod Shoate of Oklahoma and secondary men Jimmy Allen of UCLA, Artimus Parker of Southern California and Mike Townsend of Notre Dame.

The team is composed of freshman Dorsett, 16 seniors and five juniors — Wood, Leaks, Donovan, White and Shoate.

Dorsett is unquestionably the greatest freshman running back in history. His 1,586 yards smashed the previous best by a freshman — 1,291 by New Mexico State's Po James in 1968. His 265 yards against Northwestern in his third varsity game was the best performance ever by a freshman and his 209 yards against nationally ranked Notre Dame were the most ever allowed by a Notre Dame team.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno calls Cappelletti "the best player I've ever been around."

The 6-1, 215-pounder carried 286 times for 1,522 yards and 16 touchdowns and also caught 22 passes for 207 yards and a touchdown.

Leaks, a bone-crunching 220-pounder, led Texas to its sixth consecutive Southwest Conference championship with a league record 1,415 yards, including a brilliant 342-yard game against Southern Methodist, only eight yards shy of the national one-game mark.

Jaynes completed 172 of 330 passes for 2,131 yards and 13 touchdowns and was intercepted only nine times, one of the best interception ratios ever. His finest performance came in a 28-27 loss to nationally ranked Tennessee when he connected on 35 of 58 passes for 394 yards. He holds every Kansas passing mark but one.

Southern Cal Coach John McKay calls receiver-kick returner Swann "as valuable to us as Johnny Rodgers was to Nebraska. In our offense, he is called on to run, block and catch passes and he is excellent at all three."

Tight end Tillman is a 6-5, 230-pounder equally adept at blocking or receiving.

The offensive interior linemen — Hicks, Brown, Lafauci, Yoest and Wyman — are great blockers. In fact, Ohio State's Woody Hayes calls Hicks "the best offensive lineman I have ever coached," including Hall of Famer Jim Parker.

The most notorious names on the defensive unit are Selmon, teammate Shoate and Wood.

Coach Barry Switzer calls Selmon "the greatest down lineman we've ever had here, and we've had some really great ones." Shoate, according to Switzer, "looks like one of those guided missiles — swoosh!...and he's got the ballcarrier. He's intelligent and a great open-field tackler. And he's mean." Shoate also is the fastest man on the Oklahoma team in a 40-yard dash.

Wood called defensive signals as a sophomore for Southern Cal's national champs last season and McKay termed him "the best linebacker I've had at this stage of his development. He has great strength and quickness and is fast as most backs."

Townsend of Notre Dame was the nation's leading interceptor last year. This season, teams avoided his area but against Pitt, for example, he broke up two sure touchdown passes in the end zone and tackled Dorsett after a 65-yard run to save still another score.

Parker of USC topped the Pacific-8 Conference with eight interceptions, making him one of the nation's leaders. He returned the eight steals for 100 yards and he holds the conference career record of 20 interceptions.

Irish vault to 3rd spot in college grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame climbed into third place in The Associated Press ratings today, setting up a super Sugar Bowl meeting on New Year's Eve between the nation's two highest ranking eligible bowl teams.

Notre Dame will meet No. 1-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl in a game that probably will determine college football's national champion for 1973.

Alabama helped close out the regular season Saturday with a 35-0 trouncing of Auburn. The Crimson Tide received 34 first-place votes and 1,090 points from the 58 sports writers and broadcasters across the country who participated in the final regular season balloting.

The national champion will be determined in a poll following the Jan. 1 bowl games.

Oklahoma held onto second place with a 45-18 walloping of Oklahoma State. The Sooners received 16 first-place votes and 1,023 points as they continued their season-long role of spoilers.

Although ineligible for a bowl game because of recruiting violations, Oklahoma soundly defeated both Cotton Bowl teams — Texas and Nebraska — tied Southern California's Rose Bowl-bound defending national champions and beat two other bowl teams — Missouri and Kansas.

Notre Dame, fifth a week ago, earned two first-place votes and 810 points after closing out its first perfect regular season since 1949 by crushing

Miami of Florida 44-0.

The Irish climbed past idle Ohio State and Michigan, which each slipped a notch to fourth and fifth, respectively. The former received two first-place votes and 799 points while Michigan got one first-place ballot and 780 points.

The remaining three first-place votes went to unbeaten Penn State, which stayed in sixth place with 679 points.

Southern California held onto seventh place while Texas moved up from ninth to eighth replacing Louisiana State. UCLA rose from 10th to ninth and Arizona State climbed from 11th to 10th.

Tulane's 14-0 triumph over LSU dropped the Tigers from eighth to 13th while allowing Tulane to re-enter the Top Twenty. The Green Wave is 17th. The Twenty-Ten consists of Texas Tech, Nebraska, LSU, Houston, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Tulane, Maryland, Kansas and Tennessee.

Last week, it was Arizona State, Texas Tech, Nebraska, Houston, Miami, N.C. State, Kansas, Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri.

Dwight Clay guides Irish over Buckeyes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dwight Clay led a furious Notre Dame rally Monday night which carried the eighth-ranked Fighting Irish to a 76-72 overtime victory over Ohio State in college basketball.

Clay sank his first crucial basket with seven seconds remaining in regulation time, tying the game at 67-67 and forcing the overtime. After the two schools traded field goals in the overtime, Clay scored again to put Notre Dame ahead for good.

In other college basketball action involving teams in the Top Twenty: sixth-ranked Providence clobbered St. Leo 84-44; seventh-ranked Marquette rolled over Portland 83-46; ninth-ranked Louisville trimmed 14th-ranked Houston 87-81 and Kansas upset 10th-ranked Kentucky 71-63.

Stanford knocked off San Francisco No. 11, 63-61 in overtime; Arizona, No. 15, downed Colorado 91-76 and Jacksonville, No. 17, edged Oklahoma 66-64.

"I was just thinking about getting the ball into John Shumate," Clay said. "But they sagged on him so I shot. I just prayed the ball would go in."

When Ohio State wasn't ganging up on Shumate, he was ganging up on the Buckeyes as he led both teams with 25 points.

Marquette had little trouble with Portland, outscoring the Oregon school 22-2 early in the first half on its way to a 46-19 halftime lead as Maurice Lucas paved the way with 15 points and 11 rebounds. The only basket Portland could register during its scoring drought was on a goaltending call.

Freshman Wesley Cox came off the bench late in the first half, pumped in 13 points before the intermission and added 10 more in the second half as Louisville held off Houston.

Houston's Maurice Presley and Louisville's Bill Butler shared scoring honors with 24 points apiece.

Humanities Council to meet

Members of the local Humanities Council will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Washington Senior High School choir room with Dr. Ronald Cummings, an English professor from Wittenberg University.

Last year the Council was formed by interested citizens who arranged for three visiting teams from the National Humanities Series to present programs in our community. This series is funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities which is supported by taxes.

"This year the concept of the Humanities program has changed somewhat", according to Mrs. Robert Lee, coordinator of the local council. "Instead of three teams, we will have a professor from Ohio visit Washington C.H. three times this spring at three-week intervals. Dr. Cummings will spend two days in our community meeting with groups of eight to 10 people who will discuss vital issues confronting man today."

When Mrs. Martha Harkin, field coordinator of the National Humanities Series Mid-Western Center, University of Wisconsin, met with the council last week, she stressed that the professor would not lecture and the group with whom he meets will not be required to study. "These meetings would hopefully be an exchange of ideas by interested persons in our community who care about mankind and enjoy personal growth", Mrs. Lee said.

"On Thursday night we plan to resolve which type of program would best suit the desires of Fayette Countians," Mrs. Lee continued. "Any individual who is interested in this type of program and wants to serve on the Council is most welcome. We need a homogeneous mixture on the Council to assure a well-balanced program."

Serving on the local Humanities Council are Mrs. Bobbie Lanum, publicity chairman; Mrs. Sam Sauer, satellite program development chairman; Mrs. Suzanne Sams, Edwin Nestor, Mrs. Louis Baer, Don Riber, Miss Beverly Baer, Mrs. Jane Gardner, and William Sollars.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Although the nation's economy may slow dramatically next year if the Arab oil cut-off continues, there probably won't be a reduction in business support for nationally-broadcast programs on public television.

That's the tentative word from Ward Chamberlin Jr., a senior vice president at the Public Broadcasting Service. He even says the possible business downturn might help public TV.

"It's really sheer speculation at this point, but it may be an advantage to us in a certain way," he said.

"There may be certain businesses that want to keep their names before the public in a certain way, yet still won't want to go into great big advertising programs on commercial television."

The "certain way" to which he referred is the corporate underwriting of national public TV programs, which he said totalled about $5 million this season, slightly above last season's corporate effort.

A corporation isn't allowed to advertise on public TV.

But when it helps underwrite PBS shows, the aid is noted in a brief announcement at the start and end of the program. It usually says "this program was made possible in part by" the corporation helping pick up the tab.

Major underwriters this year have included Exxon, Mobil, Eastman Kodak, IBM, Xerox, Bristol-Myers, 3-M, General Telephone and McDonalds. They helped pay for shows ranging from "Zoom" to "Theater in America."

The underwriting, done to help build the company's public image, is a relatively small slice of the $35 million spent last year on national public TV shows, said Chamberlin, noting that most of the money came from foundations and federal sources.

"But it's significant to us because any amount is small when you look at the over-all funding of public television throughout the country," he said. "It cost us about $180 million over-all last season to keep this system running."

Chamberlin, who deals with the corporations in trying to develop private support for national public TV programming, doubted the possible economic slowdown next year will force them to reduce their financial support in the 1974-75 season.

"I don't think there's going to be any cutbacks, as far as I can see," he said. "Our objective is going to be to interest new corporations, not just rely on the 15 or so corporations which so far have been the basic (business) support of national programming in public television."

However, he added, "I think if anything it may be a little harder to interest new companies into coming into public television next year. It may be more difficult to bring new companies into the fold."

See dual Senate race endorsement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Howard Metzenbaum and John Glenn could get a joint party endorsement in their bid for the 1974 Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

Governor John J. Gilligan was quoted Monday by an aide as saying he would like to see an open contest between the two major contenders.

Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary, said the governor has indicated a joint endorsement could solve the problem although "I haven't heard him say it flatly."

Gilligan told a Democratic candidates' screening committee over the weekend he favors "the principal" of endorsement, as opposed to no stand by the state party.

Metzenbaum, who also appeared before the committee, said he would not want an endorsement if his polling showed it would hurt Gilligan's re-election bid or divide the Democrats.

Glenn reiterated that he thinks there should be no endorsement. The screening committee is expected to pass its recommendations along to the Ohio Executive Committee, which will make a final decision.

Metzenbaum, who lost to GOP Sen. Robert Taft Jr. in Ohio's 1970 senatorial contest, already has declared for the May 1974 Democratic contest.

Blast rips office suite; 2 injured

NEW YORK (AP) — A suite of offices used by a number of small political groups was heavily damaged by an explosion Monday night and two occupants were injured.

Police said the explosion that knocked out walls of the third floor suite at 150 Fifth Avenue between 20th and 21st Streets apparently was caused by a bomb placed behind a radiator in the hallway.

Four persons were in the office at the time, and two were taken to Columbus

Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Principal occupants of the office are the U.S. Committee for Justice to Latin American Prisoners and the Political Rights Defense Fund.

The office also is used by the Committee for a Democratic Election Law and the Women's National Abortion Action Council, and as an answering service for the New York Council for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

Frank Grinnon, of the U.S. Committee for Justice to Latin American Prisoners, suggested that the explosion might be an attempt to "intimidate" his group and keep the committee from holding a planned protest demonstration Wednesday against the Chilean junta.

He said the other main occupant, the Political Rights Defense Fund, was bringing suit against the Nixon administration "for political crimes" related to Watergate.

Speaking of Your Health...

Free Blood Donations Urged

I needed several transfusions when I was in the hospital. I was petrified because of stories I had read about the infected blood sometimes used accidentally for transfusions.

With my doctor's permission, when I recovered I and my whole family donated blood to the hospital in gratitude for their kindness to me.

Isn't this a wonderful way to eliminate the dangers of infected blood?

Mr. B.L., N.Y.

Dear Mr. L.: Yours is a brilliant idea which could well be incorporated in the new national plans to change the whole system of blood banking.

It is expected that in the next two years the collection of blood will be on an all-volunteer basis. No longer will blood be taken from paid blood donors. This may obviate the major problem of transfusion hepatitis that is traced to unreliable and unacceptable blood donors.

Blood is needed and absolutely essential. If the dangerous practice of buying blood is to be eliminated, your idea of collecting blood from grateful volunteers may be most important.

Scientists are making concentrated efforts to devise blood substitutes in an effort to stave off the major problem of the shortage of blood.

The gift of a pint is a thoughtful consideration. It is a gift that frequently rebounds to save the life of the donor when he himself has a need for a safe blood transfusion.

Our daughter was almost killed while riding a bicycle. When first we read one of your articles pleading for precautions about bicycle riding we thought it was far-fetched.

I hope other people will learn from our near-tragedy and take greater precautions.

Mrs. T.F.B., Miss.

Dear Mrs. B.: Thank you for your thoughtfulness in

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

In the past, lens-men had great fun photographing the outdoor Christmas lighting. Homes, and the downtown areas, both here and in nearby towns, furnished beautiful subjects for night time pictures. So maybe this year there won't be all that wattage, but there is still much to photograph. In the downtown area the Christmas store windows are prettier than ever. Have you seen Steen's windows? You'll see nothing to surpass these windows anywhere. Soldan's windows are always quite well done and in good taste. Did you ever stop to think how lucky we are to have such a good downtown shopping area? Several of the traveling salesmen who call on me wait 'til they get to Washington C. H. to shop for many things, especially shoes. Also hair cuts; they like Babe's for haircuts.

Shopping here in town has many advantages, and since someone seems to have suddenly dreamed up a gas shortage it also saves gas to shop here in town where the action is. And while we are about it, may we go along with the many others who endorse Steen's policy of "never on Sunday". The Heers, who have Steen's are the kind of people that make you proud to be in the retail business in the same town. Integrity is the word. They're our kind of people.

Let's kick Woody around the block one more time. That's the idea that seems to permeate the main stem these days. Why? The guy that gets his blood pressure 'way up there on the Rose Bowl bid is the same guy that accepts this contrived energy crisis with a shrug of the shoulders. Coaches are people, and I never knew a coach I didn't like. Why is it the "in thing" to cuss the coach?

writing about this important subject.

I was dumbfounded when I learned from a statistical survey that bicycle accidents were so high on the list. This excellent exercise will continue to be hazardous unless riders are trained in the methods of avoiding accidents.

For example, riding a bike at dusk is particularly dangerous. Automobile drivers are known to have the sharpness of their vision reduced at that time.

In addition, the glare of the lowering sun adds to the danger of bike riding.

More and more bicyclists are wearing a light-reflecting material so that automobile and truck drivers can clearly distinguish them in the dark.

I truly believe that lightweight helmets and a face-protecting mask should be as legally necessary as they are for those who ride motorcycles.

Courses in bicycle safety should be given in schools, in preparation for riding at all times of the day, and in all communities.

Saudi Arabian visit scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit King Faisal of Saudi Arabia later this month as part of a five-nation trip through the Middle East, diplomatic sources said today.

Kissinger may add other countries, including Lebanon, to his itinerary. His travel plans will be formally announced within the next few days.

The projected call on Faisal will serve two purposes: to try to enlist the King's aid in spurring other Arab states toward a productive peace conference and to try to relax the oil squeeze by showing that Washington is indeed pushing Israel to the peace table in Geneva Dec. 18.

Savings Bank to become 'Midland Bank'

The Washington Savings Bank will change its name early in 1974 to the Midland Bank of Washington C.H., according to an announcement made today by Richard E. Whiteside, president of the $25 million-asset bank in Fayette County.

The move is part of a statewide name change to Midland Banks for the 12 member banks of Huntington Bancshares, an Ohio-based registered bank holding company.

The corporation also announced its proposed name change to the Huntington Midland Corp.

Huntington Bancshares with $1.3 billion assets is the sixth largest bank holding company in Ohio and the first to adopt a unified name for its member banks. Huntington Bancshares operates 75 offices throughout the state and an off-shore office in the Bahamas.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the unified corporate identification program was made at a meeting of the boards of directors of the affiliated banks. The name change will be proposed to shareholders for ratification the first quarter of 1974.

"Complete corporate unification is essential to our organization's future growth, development and profitability," said Bancshare President Clair E. Fultz.

Total support for the name change of the Washington Savings Bank was expressed by Whiteside.

"We are in enthusiastic agreement with the proposed name change to Midland Bank, as it relates to our own bank and to our customers, and also to the goals of the corporation," Whiteside said.

"The easily identifiable Midland Bank name will extend the marketing impact of the corporation across the state, help us to achieve system-wide efficiencies and enable us to retain our leadership among the Ohio banking community," Whiteside added.

OFFICE SIGNS, marketing programs and other identification will begin to reflect the change to Midland Bank early in 1974 in conjunction with the statewide implementation of the unified identification program.

Affiliated with Huntington Bancshares and effected by the change are the Huntington National Bank, Columbus; the Savings Bank Co., Chillicothe; the Farmers Bank and Trust Co., Ashland; the Bank of Wood County Co., Bowling Green; Lagonda National Bank, Springfield; the Lucas County State Bank, Toledo; First National Bank and Trust Co., Lima; the Woodville State Bank, Woodville; the Portage National Bank, Kent; the First National Bank, Wadsworth; and the First National Bank, Kenton.

Shoplifter fined, jailed

A Washington C.H. woman, arrested Monday afternoon for shoplifting at Buckeye Mart, appeared before Judge Reed M. Winegardner in Municipal Court less than two hours later. Originally charged with grand larceny, she was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail (60 of which were suspended) when the charge was reduced to petty larceny and the defendant entered a plea of guilty.

Esther L. Fredrick, 30, of 715 Eastern Ave., entered the store and took a cart through the aisles where she somewhere produced a number of "Buckeye Mart" shopping bags. After making her selections, she filled the bags in the cart and walked out the door, police said.

Store officials stopped her in the lot a short distance from the exit and held her for officers. The items taken included an electric train set, a pair of shoes, pliers and two gift boxes of tools.

Ronald E. Larson, 19, of 418 Fifth St.,

was fined $25 and was given a suspended 10-day jail sentence for disturbing the peace. He had been arrested on a private warrant.

Gregorio M. Redondo, 36, Miami, Fla., and Jorge A. Westover, 30, San Rafael, Costa Rica, were fined $50 each for petty larceny. The two had driven away from Gardner's Truck Stop, U.S. 35 and I-71, without paying for $12 worth of diesel fuel.

New Holland Council eyes gift of land

NEW HOLLAND — A contract for the donation of 12 acres of land was presented to the New Holland Council Monday night. Ora Bridge has offered to present the 12 acres to the village as the site of a proposed sewage plant, and a contract, designating the grounds and the options, was submitted.

Council received the document favorably but will not take any final action until the contract has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration.

Residents of the School Street area again complained that the blacktop covering their sidewalks has not been cleaned up, and a number of citizens have noted that many trees need pruning. Council will investigate both matters.

Discussion continued on possible uses for revenue sharing funds. Expenditures for the Fire Department and the possibility of organizing a village Police Department headed the list of areas considered.

Man being held in marijuana raid

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Anthony Estrada, 23, of suburban Oregon, was being held in lieu of $30,000 on drug possession charges after police raided his home Monday and confiscated 120 pounds of marijuana with a street value of $100,000.

Police Chief James Siddoris said officers also confiscated $100,000 in cash. He said the raid culminated a six-week investigation by the Oregon department.

Hitchhiker held for drug offense

Sheriff's deputies picked up a hitchhiker at the intersection of U.S. 35 and I-71 at 5:35 p.m. Monday and booked him for a drug offense.

Joseph H. Ringer, 21, of Bellaire, was found to have a small amount of marijuana and some pipes on his person. He was charged with possession and is being held in the county jail.

A soft drink machine was found by sheriff's deputies to have been jimmied, but not forced all the way open, at 7:15 p.m., Monday.

The machine, kept in a horse barn on the Fayette County Fairground, is owned by Scioto Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Circleville.

A 24" by 24" glass window was broken out of a garage owned by Harry Pollock, 904 S. Hinde St. The incident occurred at Pollock's property located at 715 Vine Street, police report.

An antenna was bent on a car owned by Lowell W. Smith of 624 Circle Ave. Smith told police his son had parked the car in the 800 block of Willard Street from 5 p.m. til 11 p.m. when the incident occurred.

Sabina annexes two plants

SABINA — A large tract of land, which includes two relatively new industries, was annexed into the village of Sabina during the regular Council meeting Monday night.

Councilmen incorporated the tract of land which includes the Conchemco, Inc., mobile home plant and Sabina Aluminum Co., located on the east edge of the village. The annexation starts at the east edge with the two industries and covers all land west to the Greenfield-Sabina Road.

In other matters, Council approved a request from residents of a new subdivision located just south of Sabina for police protection. Council is anticipating annexing the subdivision into the village corporation limits.
